GREAT THINGS PREDICTED IN YEAR TO COME

Peaceful and Prosperous New Year Looms Today

CITY IS PROSPEROUS

Merchants Look for Great Increase in Business Here

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Prominent Chicagoans today told why 1922 will be a happy year for the United States:

C. H. Gustafson, president of the United States Grain Growers, Inc.: "Next year will see a new era of peace and happiness in business. This is because farmers are determined to cooperate and take a hand in their own business."

Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co.: "My New Year will be happy because it promises a more peaceful and prosperous world."

David R. Forgan, banker: "It appears as though the arms conference will bring many new blessings to the world in 1922."

Louis Swift, president of Swift & Co.: "The country has turned the corner. Now let us all work so that 1922 will see the fulfillment of our best hopes and desires."

Business has been good all through the year, generally, in Glendale. Merchants and business men are not worried over a depression that has hit certain parts of the country, for they feel that Glendale will continue to thrive so long as California sunshine stays on the job.

William Moore, proprietor of the Irish Linen store, says 1921 has been a very good year for the dry goods business. It is his belief that the new Pendroy Dry Goods company, soon to be a Glendale institution, will help Glendale merchants a great deal. Mr. Moore is going to enlarge his store after the first of the year, about 20 feet in the rear and will add to his stock. He expects a very good year for 1922.

C. V. Hatz, proprietor of Hatz's, 132 South Brand boulevard, says 1921 has been a wonderful year. His store was opened January 20, 1921, and the whole year has been one of success, and he expects 1922 to be even more so.

J. H. Wittmeyer, of Jewel Electric company, 202 East Broadway, declares 1921 has been much better than last. He has been in business two years and expects a year even better in 1922.

W. S. Perrin, president of the Glendale State Bank: "I anticipate good business for the coming year. Naturally business is rather slow right now. It is always dull in banking circles during the Christmas holidays and until after the advent of the New Year. I expect to see business take the upward trend that it has shown during the past year within a few weeks and expect that business will be as good in 1922 as it was during the year 1921. The year just passing has been a remarkable year and there is no reason why 1922 should not be just as good. During the year of 1921 deposits in this bank have shown a substanial increase and the monster building campaign that has been conducted here in Glendale during the year naturally created a large demand for building loans on all banks and this bank was no exception. All of these loans are being cared for by the parties asking for them as soon as they mature and this indicates that business is good in all lines.

A. R. Eastman, vice president of the Glendale State Bank: "As far as I can see there is nothing that can stop the year 1922 from being an excellent year financially. The fact that the Federal Reserve discount rate has been lowered from 7 per cent to 4½ per cent is the best indication that conditions in the money market is easy. There is considerable money idle at present due to many of the factories

HOPE FOR A FEW OF US STILL EXISTS

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Ugly men make the most successful lovers because, forced to be artful to overcome the natural beauty of the matinee-idol type, they attain a charm of manner that leaves the beautiful man lengths behind, Dr. Bernard Hollander, famous psychologist, said in a lecture.

Women naturally distrust the pretty man, he argued, and think there can be no harm in the ugly one. Off to a flying start, the Cyranos apply the oil, with happy or disastrous results, according to whether Cyrano is honest or dishonest.

New Year Is Subject of Listening Post for This Evening

This paper wishes you a Happy New Year.

"Physically, you won't be able to discern much difference between the thirty-first of December and the first of January," says James W. Foley in "The Listening Post" tonight. And he tells you the reason in his very interesting way.

You will also find an editorial on the New Year, as well as others upon other subjects. By this time you must be aware of the able manner in which the editorial page is handled.

Henry James is his comments on the news of the day, touches on the subject of congested dockets and suggests that if lawyers were forced to cut out all the monkey business the courts would not be congested.

John Pilgrim tells of the opportunity offered him to make some quick money. His experience will surely interest you. There are other features that will command your attention on the editorial page. It is always worth reading.

ORDERS ISSUED TO CONTRACTORS

Must Get Sand and Gravel From New Wash Point

In order to deepen the channel of the Verdugo Canyon wash and give it added capacity to handle the flood waters, orders have been issued to have all contractors haul their sand and gravel from above the new reservoir.

It has been the practice of sand and gravel men to load their wagons at any point in the wash most convenient to them. This action resulted in deep holes at certain points, making the bed of the wash very uneven and reducing the carrying capacity.

City Manager Reeves this morning issued an order closing all parts of the wash to sand and gravel wagons except a point one-eighth of a mile above the new reservoir. When the point opened has reached a sufficient depth it will be closed and another point opened until the entire wash has been deepened.

SHRINE CLUB SET 1922 FAST PACE

Thirty New Faces Will Grace Banquet Table January 4

The newly organized Shrine club will set the pace for 1922 at its first big meeting which will take place the evening of January 4, in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce at which it is expected that thirty new members will be added to the present enrollment of 100. It will be a social gathering with plenty of eats and a good time for all participants.

The officers of the club are, C. E. Neale, president; Julius Krans, vice-president, and Noble Gartley, secretary. They promise big things for 1922, the program already arranged for the coming three months including social gatherings every two weeks.

ORGY OF DRINKING AT BAY CITY NOW SEEMS SURE

Dry Agents Will Make Things Interesting for Bootleggers

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—Any way you look at it, tonight is going to be a big night. San Francisco was preparing to put on a New Year's unofficially of course, which will carry reminders of the old days when wine flowed like water in a cloudburst.

Bootleggers were planning to reap a harvest. And prohibition officers said they would spoil the fun. So, whichever side wins, a lively evening seemed in the offing. Quantities of liquor of all classes, varieties and qualities, was reported today to have reached the "bootleg market."

Wine was quoted wholesale at $2 to $2.75 per gallon, according to the newness thereof. The oldest was reported to be of the rare vintage of 1920. It will all retail at the same price—$1 to $2 per quart.

Barbed wire whisky was plentiful. The rankest was quoted wholesale at $8 per quart and ranged upwards to $20 for a dusty bottle with a Scotch label on it—buyer to take his chances as to what it contained. Retail prices will be from $12 to $40 per bottle, and 50 cents to a dollar and a half per drink, according to quality of liquor, purchaser and seller.

Cafes have prepared for a record business. The leading restaurants, cabarets and hotels were practically sold out today, there being few tables left unreserved. Cafe men reported the biggest business since the memorable New Year's eve of 1919—the last before the country went dry.

Prohibition officers had their plans well laid. They were expected to bob up during the evening, perhaps dressed in evening clothes or otherwise disguised. Their intentons were very secret—about as secret as information as to where liquor can be purchased.

"We'll be there," was the announcement from the prohibition office. "We're going to add to the gaiety of the evening."

THIS GUY IS WELL OFF BUT WESHOULDWORRY

LONDON, Dec. 31.—"Milton," the giant Khartoum millipede—in ordinary language, thousand-leg—is living a life of pampered idleness while the London Zoo is scouring the world to find him a new wife.

Milton, a rare specimen, suffered the loss of his wife, Millie, a few days ago. He was moved into a luxurious bachelor apartment of special glass, a yard each way all around, specially heated—and has since been fed on bananas, lettuce and condensed milk, for fear he might get fed up and follow her.

Zoo officials are trying hard to find a wife of his own breed—a difficult task, as he has never been classified and cannot be until he is dead.

Year of Great Achievement Is Forecast for Glendale

By JOHN H. GERRIE
Prosperity Editor Glendale Daily Press

The old year goes out in a blaze of glory for Glendale. The new year enters with advance rays of brilliant promise. Glendale is ON THE WAY.

As pace setter for fast growing American cities she has established new high marks in the departing year for new homes and population increase. Building permits ran well beyond $5,000,000 and the number of her residents is now estimated at around 30,000. Already the 50,000 mark in population is in sight and her optimists forecast the day when 100,000 persons will dwell in this charming valley city.

John H. Gerrie

Beautiful Brand boulevard already is beginning to take on the character of a metropolitan business thoroughfare and there'll be few to equal it anywhere. Broadway and Glendale avenue are yet in embryonic stage but both seem destined to play large parts in the greater city that surely is coming.

The splendid prosperity of the city will be given permanency with the filling up of the industrial area paralleling the Southern Pacific right-of-way from the Burbank town line to San Fernando road and Brand boulevard. So far the winning of industries has been slow work, largely because there has been no systematic and aggressive campaign to attract them here. But the voluntary coming in of half-a-score small producing plants of a good sort during the year may be taken as a criterion of what will happen when a real campaign is waged.

Glendale is fortunate at this time in its business administration and the program with which it enters the new year ought to carry the city fast and far toward the ideal community. The plans for an adequate sewage system came none too soon, while the contemplated project of a municipal motor stage line and reduced fares to and from Los Angeles would be a wonderfully popular move.

This city has grown so terrifically fast that it has been impossible for all things attendant upon her to hold the pace. In no respect is Glendale so far behind her present day importance than in her relation to the only main line railroad that runs within the limits of the city. To be rated as a flag station would seem to be an inexcusable insult for a community of 30,000 people until one remembers that the advance from a hamlet to a young metropolis has been quicker than the time required by a railroad to amend its schedules. This serious matter is now in hand by the hard-working local chamber of commerce with promise of early amelioration of the present intolerable conditions.

There also is excellent prospect of other needs of the city being taken care of in the right way during the year ahead. These include provisions for parks and playgrounds and a civic center to be eventually surrounded by city hall, auditorium, library and other buildings of municipal or state character.

As has been repeatedly shown in these columns, there is urgent demand for more apartment houses for rental. Because of lack of these, Glendale is turning away prospective home buyers and residents every day in the year. But most urgently needed of all is a fine, large hotel, to attract tourists, capitalists and possible investors to whom this beautiful valley city at present is a dead letter.

There are signs, however, that all deficiencies will be met and many desirable improvements be got under way in the year whose threshold we are about to cross. As 1921 has been a year of record growth, so 1922, while maintaining the ratio of increase, promises also to be a year of remarkable rounding out in form. After all a city is what its citizens make it and the demonstrated vision, optimism and energy of Glendalians of today abundantly forecast a year of surpassing achievement.

There is every reason why 1922 should be a HAPPY NEW YEAR for Glendale!

ROMMEL STARTS WORK ON NEW BLDG

Brick Business Building to Cost Nearly $25,000

The Rommel Construction company has started work on a new business block at the corner of Brand and Lexington for W. C. Glassell, a local man. This building will be composed entirely of brick with terra cotta trim. It will be 50 by 90 feet on the ground floor and will cost about $25,000.

On the main floor of the building there will be five storerooms, three on Brand and two on Doran. The second floor will be taken up by six double apartments, each of which will have all kinds of built-in features, tile bath and drain-board, hardwood floors, built-in beds, etc.

When finished this will be the fifth business block that has been constructed on Brand boulevard by this company. It will take about 90 days to complete the structure.

FAIR ENOUGH IF IT'S TRUE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—"If I had a million dollars I would help these poor," Morris Jacobs told his friends. Now he has inherited $5,000,000 and he says he is going to help them five times as much as he had planned to.

ARREST WOMAN IN POSTAL ROBBERY

Believe Woman in Jail Is Involved With Two Men

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—A woman who gave the name of Ethel Burse and said by police to be the divorced wife of former featherweight champion Abe Attel, was arrested here today with two men for complicity in the $1,500,000 mail theft last July. Mrs. Attel is charged with attempting to pass altered government bonds which were stolen, and the two men, Sam Gold and Harry Cohen, salesmen, were charged with conspiracy.

The shipment of registered mail which was stolen was en route from the federal reserve bank of New Jersey to the treasury department in Washington. The fact value of bonds missing was $1,447,000. Some of the bonds were cancelled and others were marked "paid" with a rubber stamp. By a clever use of chemicals, the "paid" was removed and many of them were passed.

SHAKE HANDS, HELEN—SHAKE

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—"He threw me down to marry a woman 70 years old," said Miss Helen Young, 24, cloak model, as she filed a $100,000 suit against Frank A. Fisher for breach of promise.

WEATHER BUREAU HISTORY GIVEN FIRST TIME

Clouds Mean Two Things Sometimes, Sometimes Not

Fair and warmer! It was not colder last night as predicted by the weather man in Los Angeles and those who got out their winter furs 'n everything may put them back with impunity—or mothballs, suiting your own taste in the matter.

The Glendale Daily Press weather man refuses hereafter to be guided by anything the so-called weather man says. We would rather believe the man down at the S. P. station here who this morning predicted rain when he saw some clouds assembling in the sky in this vicinity. Some one said the clouds looked like rain whereupon he remarked that the clouds were merely a bunch of empties going back for another load with no return date mentioned.

Anyhow, when President Lincoln was with us, he went out walking one afternoon and during the journey, met an old negro who knew him well. The nero saw the President walking nonchalantly along the highway and as they approached each other, the negro drew up his old and faithful jackass and warned the President to return to the White House because a heavy storm was approaching. The President looked skward and not seeing clouds told the old negro he must be mistaken. The negro pointed to his jackass and said: "Marse Lincoln, when dat little jackass o' mine puts his ears down dat means a storm am a cummin' an' hit doan mean nothin' else." Lincoln laughed and walked on. In less than half an hour, a severe rainstorm caught the President in the middle of his "constitutional" and he returned to the White House drenched. He sent for the old negro and bought his jackass and put it in as chief of the weather bureau, and reports indicate it is still there. That's a good weather story, anyhow.

ONE-EYED JACK TO MAKE BIG SWEEP AFTER MIDNIGHT

Terre Haute Chief Tells Idlers to Get One-way Ticket

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Dec. 31.—One-eyed Jack Smock today resolved:

"To tame Terre Haute, one of the last wild towns in America, in 24 hours."

Smock starts as police chief at the dawn of the New Year.

"And vice goes when I start," said Smock. "I'll give the bootleggers, wild women and crooked gamblers one day to leave Terre Haute. They better purchase one-way tickets, too."

Smock has a reputation in southern Indiana of being able to see more and shoot straighter than most two-eyed peace officers.

Smock is backed by a fund of $25,000 put up by the Ministerial association to aid in sending Terre Haute through the law's laundry.

Ora Davis, new mayor, has agreed with Smock that the jingle of poker chips, the whizz of the roulette wheel and the tin pan sound from cheap cabarets must cease one minute after 12 on New Year's day.

MONDAY WILL TAKE PLACE OF SUNDAY

Tomorrow, New Year's day, being Sunday, a legal holiday, the stores and other business places, including banks and the postoffice, will be closed and because New Year's day comes on Sunday, already a holiday, the celebration will be held on Monday instead.

All churches in Glendale have prepared special services for members and others who want to start the new year right by attending a house of worship. Fine musical programs, some of which will be marked by Christmas music, have been arranged, and timely sermons will be breached by the various pastors.

Like other places of business, the Glendale Daily Press will be closed all day Monday and there will be no paper on that day. Subscribers will receive the Los Angeles Evening Express, however, which will be delivered at noon.

The Gendale Daily Press wishes every one of its over 4000 subscribers a happy and prosperous new year, filled with the things that make life worth while. This wish extends also to all people, who, unless all signs fail, will soon see the dawn of a new day when civilized men will no longer war against each other.

SENATORS NOW SHOW INTEREST WATSON CASE

More Witnesses Be Called Against Major M. L. Opie

TO BE CALLED SOON

Sweeping Inquiry Promised as Testimony Comes in WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Many senators were prepared today to increase the scope of the senatorial investigation into charges of murder and cruelty to American soldiers while in France, if Senator Watson can prove that Major M. L. Opie, Staunton, Va., killed two of his soldiers.

"The accusing fingers of a dozen doughboys today point to Major Opie as the murderer of two of his men in action in France," Watson declared.

Senators were thoroughly aroused as charges from war veterans against Opie continued to pour into the hands of Watson, whose sensational accusations are under investigation.

If the charges against Opie are borne out by testimony, senators declared that the sweeping inquiry into the charges that cowards and mentally deranged soldiers were shot down in action by their officers, made on the floor of the house by Representative Royal Johnson, South Dakota, should be immediately started. The latest accuser of Opie is Charles E. Fox of Richmond, Va., who declared that he saw the former A. E. F. major kill a runner in the Argonne drive. Watson has asked the committee to call Fox to testify when the investigation is resumed on January 4. Opie denies the charges against him and declares he can vindicate himself.

Senator Brandegee, chairman of the committee, has indicated that Opie will be called and given every opportunity to do so. In his telegram, Fox named another man, "Sergeant Charles Kane of New Jersey,' as a witness to the killing of the runner by Opie. An effort will be made to locate Kane and every other man who says he has knowledge of the charges against the officer, members of the committee said. The charge that Opie killed two of his men in action was originally made before the committee by Henry L. Scott of Akron, Ohio. Eleven other ex-service men who declare their willingness to testify to the truth of these charges, Senator Watson said, have been added to the list.

Unique and very beautiful decorations have been placed and the dinner will be an elaborate affair, the best ever served in the banquet hall, according to the committee having it in charge.

There will be dancing on two floors until one or two o'clock in the morning and the new year will be properly welcomed.

A flock of cops arrived.

"Yes," Lee replied, "holdup man here. He gone."

MUSIC CLUB SEES GREAT FUTURE

In no phase of life has the development of Glendale along artistic lines been more manifest than in its social organizations. A striking example is found in the Glendale Music club, less than a year old which has a membership of 613, not including its junior and juvenile auxiliaries, and which expects to have a total, counting these affiliated organizations, of 1000 when it celebrates the first anniversary of its charter day, February 17, for which a program as great and unique in its way as the Alice Gentle concert, is being planned.

This club aims to be a rallying point for the musical interests of the city, uniting them for the purpose of bringing the best to Glendale along musical lines. Practically all the revenues of the club are devoted to programs and to encouragement of struggling talent as well as the cultivation of the local taste in music. The club is not a mutual benefit society of a small clique, but a community affair.

The concert to be given next week at which the artists will be Miss Gertrude Cleophas and Miss Ruth Hutchinson, has already been mentioned. The next concert following, which will be given January 16, will be of exceptional local interest because it will be provided by members of the junior auxiliary.

Besides being charter month, February will be a red letter month because its last week has been named as "music memory contest week" when all the organizations in the city will be asked to join with the schools in a competition for which prizes are to be offered, the Glendale Daily Press having headed the list of voluntary prize donors. The music which will feature the contest, and which the theaters, churches, clubs, etc., will be asked to play, will be listed daily in the Glendale Press and advertised in other ways, as a means of stimulating familiarity with the best music of the day. Mrs. Dora Gibson will be general chairman and head of a committee of 130 which will be divided into sub-committees for publicity and other work. This committee will meet immediately after New Years to select the compositions to be used so the public may be informed and begin to familiarize itself with them.

The Glendale Music Club is the first to respond to the request of the Federation of Music clubs that such a contest be put on all over the United States, and in this matter as in others, it has shown its progressive spirit.

TUESDAY CLUB CLOSES FINE YEAR

The Tuesday Afternoon club has felt the strengthening effect of the active growth of Glendale. It is steadily increasing in numbers, and making a rounded development in its section work. No drive has been made for membership because its meeting place—the Masonic temple—is frequently taxed beyond its seating capacity by the audiences which assemble for the programs of the club, and the organization finds itself embarrassed in the presence of guests. This condition has shown the urgent need of a club home and 1922 is likely to be a banner year in that it will witness the building of such a home on the four lots owned by the organization on Central avenue and Lexington Drive. Plans are being made at the present time by Architect Alfred F. Priest for a structure which promises to be a thing of beauty. It will be Italian in character of stucco exterior with many windows and French doors opening into gardens and patios and will provide besides an adequate auditorum, a reception rotunda, social rooms and tea rooms, a banquet hall and kitchen, and quarters for a resident janitor. The estimated cost will be between $40,000 and $50,000.

The club has a membership of 613, and is increasing steadily.

Mrs. John Robert White, president of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations of this city which now number 11, and which will be increased to 12 when a school is established in the Grand View district, states that the present enrollment of the organization is 2788, with every prospect that it will be 3000 by the end of the year.

Many calls are made upon it for benevolences in which its members are interested as well as for matters connected with the schools, and to meet these demands upon its treasury, benefits are given, something which will give patrons the worth of their money. The next benefit of this sort will be a card party given Monday, January 23, at the home of Mrs. White on Orange and Lexington.

Glendalians do not need to be told the purpose of the P.-T. A. Federation which is essentially a working organization of strength and influence to promote the best interests of the public schools.

When citizens marvel at the passage of bonds for a high school site by such tremendous majorities, they should take into account the P.-T. A. Federation and its intelligent work on behalf of the bonds.

Mrs. Nanno Woods and daughters, Dorothy and Kathleen, announce a new course in ball-room dancing, for adults only, beginning Wednesday evening, January 4. 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, at their beautiful residence, 122 West Milford street, Glendale. Ring out the old year with its joys and griefs and begin at the beginning with the new year. Old 1921 may not have given you much and it may have given you plenty.

The new year will be bigger and better for you if you will see how much you can put into it instead of wondering how much you will get out of it. You have to put gasoline in an automobile to get anything out of it. 1922 promises to be much like an automobile.

It is what you put in your life and the life of those around you that counts. Success and happiness is not a matter of dollars. It is a blended glory that comes with service. He rejoices most who serves most.

and manufacturing plants in the east operating on half time during portions of the past year and this money is being invested in bonds. When industry is slack the idle money creates a good market for bonds and money is kept in circulation. There is nothing, as far as I can see that will prevent 1922 from being a banner year.

"The year 1921 was a banner year for deposits. This bank has been open practically but 60 days and in that time has transacted approximately a half million dollars of business.

I should feel safe in saying that the deposits in the local banks have increased during the past year by a half million dollars. This is based on the amount of deposits in this bank and a survey of the general banking situation in Glendale. In addition to this the local banks absorbed a portion of the $5,000,000 building loans for the past year. These loans have been cared for promptly.

R. F. Kitterman, cashier of the First National Bank: "Deposits in this bank during the past year have increased approximately $350,000 and loans have increased in the same proportion and are being cared for promptly. The demand for local money has been heavy during the past year owing to the extensive building program that has been carried out here.

Delos Smith, manager of the Brand boulevard branch of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank: "Deposits in this branch of the bank have shown a material increase during the past year and there has been a strong demand for loans due in a large degree to the extensive building program that has been carried on here. These loans have been carried and met promptly when due indicating that all lines of business are experiencing prosperity.

"I cannot see anything but bright prospects for business during the coming year. Of course, there may be a slump, one can never tell what unforseen occurrence may come up but from all indications 1922 will be practically as good financially and in a business way as was the year 1921."

Herman Nelson, manager of the Glendale avenue branch of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank: "There has been a wonderful increase in deposits at this branch of the banking house that I represent and a big demand for loans. These loans have been made and have been cared for promptly.

"The coming year will be good as far as general business is concerned. Real estate may not find as ready a market as was found during the past year but as far as a slump in other lines there is no reason for it in Southern Calif.

HAPPY NEW YEAR—everyone's hoping and building wondrous air-castles on those gladsome words! And, really, there's no reason why this coming year—1922, cannot be one of the most prosperous and successful in the history of Glendale—thus making it a happy year for all true Glendalians! The merchants of Glendale are looking forward to a big year—big in the sense that they feel that surely the people of Glendale will appreciate their efforts to maintain a high standard of goods the while low prices are prevailing. And of course you know as well as do I, that the merchants of Glendale are offering goods at far less prices than their neighboring dealers in the city—and will continue to do so as long as you—the people of Glendale are willing to co-operate!

Martha Alicia

In 1922 we'll buy it at home—buy in Glendale—and thus insure a record year for prosperity, success and happiness for Glendale and all who are interested!

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

IT'S ALWAYS WISE to take precautions with the drinking water—and particularly at this season of the year! That's why I suggest that you call Glendale 217 and order a bottle of the famous White Rose Spring Water from the INDEPENDENT ICE CO. of 106 E. California Ave.—it's always pure and fresh!

---

NO, INDEED, the best is none too good for that New Year's party! And here's a word to the wise—better stop in at the FANCY BAKERY, 142 N. Brand Blvd., right away and order your cakes or whatever you wish to serve! The Fancy Bakery goods are absolutely the best to be had—for they are pure and wholesome—baked in their own shop by the latest approved sanitary methods—and under Mr. Walsma's own personal supervision!

For New Year's Eve I'd suggest one of their famous Sunshine Cakes, or, perhaps a delicious sponge or angel cake—and I'll guarantee that they will positively melt in your mouth—for truly they taste just like more!

In fact, the Fancy Bakery pastries are more like those mother used to bake than any I have ever tasted! And, then, too, their prices are so reasonable that it doesn't pay to even try to bake at home any more! But, my dear, take warning—the Fancy Bakery is to be closed all day Monday, for it's a holiday, you know—so be sure that you've laid in an ample supply of their home-made bread to last you over the double holiday—'till Tuesday!

---

NO DOUBT YOU'VE BEEN SORELY TRIED with that leaky roof during this last storm! A coat of California Asbestos Fibre Liquid Cement will absolutely stop those leaks that are so hard to locate, for it seals all small holes and cracks—even opened joints and seams! It's absolutely rainproof and does not soften and run in hot weather, but will expand with the surface—for it's elastic! But you'd better stop in at STEVENS' PAINT STORE, 219½ E. Broadway, and ask about it—for Mr. Stevens knows from actual experience just what it will do! Suffice it to say that but one coat is required on any surface—for it's equal to seven coats of ordinary paint!

YOU'LL BE SURPRISED at the difference the GLENDALE CARPET AND MATTRESS WORKS can make in that old, antique furniture of yours! They'll straighten the old-fashioned crooks and curves—re-upholster it—and lo! you'll have a chair that couldn't be duplicated new for many times its cost! The Glendale Carpet Mattress Works are at 1411 S. San Fernando Rd.—and you'll find a visit to their factory well worth your while if you've any old furniture which isn't in condition to be used!

YOU KNOW, I THINK EVERY WOMAN is more or less interested in any proposition whereby she receives coupons for small expenditures — and particularly when they entitle her to such lovely silverware as those I now have in mind! At the JEWEL ELECTRIC CO. of 200 E. Broadway you'll be given a coupon for the famous Rogers Bros. Silverware for every twenty-five cents of your purchase! That means that if you buy a vacuum cleaner or washing machine at the Jewel Electric Co. you'll right then have enough coupons to entitle you to your choice of any number of attractive silver pieces! And, of course, you know what Rogers Bros. silverware is—for it is known and appreciated all over the country. Their patterns are exquisite and the quality incomparable! Could there be a more ideal way for you to spend your Xmas money than in buying some electrical appliance that will give you years of service—and at the same time make it possible for you to avail yourself of this opportunity to secure some fine silverware without any additional cost to you above the purchase price of the article you select! Stop in at the Jewel Electric Co. and look over their appliances!

BEAUTIFULLY SHADED LAMPS—like a woman's presence—make a home! Did you know that the ART NEEDLE SHOP of 209 W. Broadway design and make the most charming lamp shades to harmonize with the other furnishings of your home? Yes, indeed, either of silk or any material you may desire!

---

THE FIRST OF THE YEAR is always a time when folks have things generally put in order and gone over—starting right for the New Year! That's the reason that I'm suggesting it would be wise for you to call Mr. Sheehy at the GLENDALE PLUMBING CO., 134 S. Orange St., and have him go over your entire plumbing system and be sure that everything is all right! You can rest assured, too, that when Mr. Sheehy tells you it is in perfect condition that it is—for he thoroughly understands and knows his business—and employs only skilled workmen of the very highest type! It's such a satisfaction, too, to know that you have someone to do the work in whom you can place the utmost dependence—and that is the case when you're dealing with the Glendale Plumbing Co. They also carry a full line of high class fixtures—so I know that if you have them figure on the installation of the plumbing in your new home, you will save considerably! Work well done and reasonably—is the slogan by which they're known!

---

I COULD HARDLY WAIT TO TELL YOU the glad tidings! You've no doubt eaten time and again some of the wonderful candies from the ELITE SWEET SHOP, 134 S. Brand Blvd. Imagine my surprise and delight to find that over New Year's—just as a special, the prices have been greatly reduced on both their delicious home-made fudge and those luscious walnut creams! It fairly makes my mouth water just to think of them. You probably wouldn't believe it if I was to tell you the prices that have been set on them—so I'll just drop a suggestion—you'd better drop in at the Elite Sweet Shop and find out for yourself. They are being sold either in bulk or in boxes—but remember the prices will only prevail over New Years!

---

Honey and baked apples served together are delicious.

---

ARE YOU HOMELESS, TOO? Then you'll appreciate my word of advice regarding a lovely five-room bungalow right on the boulevard, which JAMES W. PEARSON of 108 N. Brand Blvd. is offering for rent—unfurnished! There are five rooms—two bedrooms, hardwood floors throughout—a beautiful garden and lawn—and just a real, homey atmosphere! The rental is but $75.00—and you'd better see Mr. Pearson today, for it won't last long!

Truths in Epigram

Philosophy is nothing but discretion. — Selden (1584-1654).

All places are distant from heaven alike. — Burton (1576-1640).

A loving heart is the beginning of all knowledge.—Carlyle (1795-1881).

The fool doth think he is wise, but the wise man knows himself to be a fool.—Shakespeare (1564-1616).

THE ARMY OF SERVICE

For many years the Salvation Army has been recognized as a great moral factor. It has done an incalculable amount of good. Its forces move among the lowly, with kindly ministering hand. Its devotion is intense, its charity measureless.

Perhaps it was during the great war the Salvation Army rose to the high place in public esteem that it still occupies. Then its efforts became spectacular from very force of circumstances. Its men and women went to the front, brave as any soldiers. Their courage never wavered. Their zeal never flagged. In the battle zone they carried not only the message of divine love, but the tokens of human bounty.

This passing tribute to the organization springs from a specific act, an act by no means uncommon in the conduct of that organization.

An old man, penniless, friendless, ill and discouraged to the point at which he was almost ready to face death, stole some property that the army had collected. The material had been gathered for the poor. The act of stealing it was base, or would have been under different circumstances. The man was arrested. The army declined to prosecute. On the contrary, it asked the court for permission to take the old man and care for him.

That was the Christian spirit, the spirit that makes the Salvation Army what it is.

MILLIONS FOR TOYS

More than $100,000,000 was spent by Americans for toys in 1921. Perhaps this will be shocking to certain persons so constituted as to regard every dollar not expended for something absolutely essential, as a dollar wasted; who even sigh when a dollar has to be expended for the essential, since thus it is kept from investment and earning interest. But the money that went for toys was in no sense wasted.

Certain toys are luxuries. They represent scientific achievement, and are constructed only at great cost. But the poorest children crave the common toys, the dolls, the tiny wagons, the wooden horses and the tops. These are not luxuries at all. They are elements in the training of the little ones. To deny them is a hardship to which no girl or boy should be subjected.

The creation of attractive toys gives scope to invention. The making engages skilled mechanics, or affords remunerative employment to many who otherwise might not find any gainful occupation.

Countless homes have been brightened at this holiday season by gifts of toys. In places where poverty abides they were found as welcome as the more substantial presents of food and raiment.

Manufacture of toys has become a great American industry. Formerly most of them were brought from Germany. The American brand of toy is more artistic and durable.

BOOTLEGGING DISCOURAGED

When a bootlegger was convicted in a Pasadena court, the chief of police declared that all desired of the prisoner was that he kiss Pasadena goodby. This was figurative, of course. Pasadena has no wish to be kissed by a bootlegger under any circumstances. It could endure a parting.

This offender not only was fined $800, and made to experience the agony of having his liquid stock destroyed, but was sent to jail for six months. Perhaps six months is not a very long period. It might seem brief and fleeting were a note due at the expiration, but it is an appreciable stretch of time when passed behind the bars. It constitutes a punishment which the thoughtful would take pains to avoid.

Only a few days had elapsed between the arrest of this bootlegger and the passing of his sentence. Such promptness was commendable. Were it to be accepted as a guiding precedent everywhere, the bootlegger would be driven out of business. If Pasadena can stop his dispensing of poison, another city may do as well.

Bootleggers should understand that they have no sympathy whatever in the troubles they bring upon themselves. Some people object to their traffic on moral grounds, and even their customers affirm that the stuff they peddle is not fit to drink.

THE HERO OF PEACE

Dr. Howard B. Cross is dead at Vera Cruz, Mex., the victim of yellow fever. He had gone to that region on a mission for humanity. He risked his life, understanding the risk fully, in order that the fever should be driven from its haunts there even as science had expelled it from its old stronghold in Panama. He exposed himself to the disease in the course of his duty, and his associates could not save him.

The hero of peace deserves honor as high as could be given the soldier. The former is impelled by motives utterly unselfish. He is not inspired of devotion to his own country alone, but his devotion is to the race and the age. There are no fluttering banners to mark his way. No bands play as he takes his course whither his destiny lies. He is happy in the thought that he may accomplish great good, intrepid as he turns his face towards a peril as ominous as battle zone ever knew.

Dr. Cross has not been the first medical martyr by many. Never has the world known plague or pestilence so dire that men who honored the profession of medicine were not ready to seek the very center of it, trying to save the immediate victims and to subdue the peril for all time.

Perhaps the name of Dr. Howard B. Cross may not be remembered by the world at large. It will have a place in the annals of his high calling, and be known to doctors of generations yet to come.

ON THE THRESHOLD

A New Year is at the dawn. It comes with no sign to the people of this country of dire portent. It is a time for optimism, not for fear. Americans can afford to ignore the prophets of ill omen.

Despite the agony through which the world has passed, there is a course back to normal. The nations are trying to follow this course. Some of them have to feel through shadows as they progress. They do not yet move with light and confident step, but they are moving in the right direction.

This is an allusion to the great powers. The leaders have not lost their poise. They seek to unite in common purpose, and thus they are certain to be a stabilizing force for the whole of civilization. In the great emergency arising out of the war, the United States alone was left shorn of no part of its faith in itself and its material wealth. For this reason it assumed through the very demand of circumstances, a place at the head of world affairs. It was looked to for a pattern, for an ideal, for suggestive methods, and it did not fail.

At each New York the individual makes resolutions of reform. It is no idle custom. The period is one for thought, for retrospection, for an effort to glimpse into the future. Values are weighed, records scanned, plans formulated. The individual strives then for higher moral ground. Even if failure marks the attempt, some good has been accomplished.

So the whole of civilization, a mere aggregation of units, is in a mood now to make resolutions. When nations decide to be fair and honest and unselfish, even as individuals want to be, the world becomes brighter; radiant with promise.

Once more this paper wishes to each of its readers a happy and prosperous season, pledging itself to do all within its ability to promote the common good, and to uphold that which is just and right.

A bill is being drawn up to make insanity grounds for divorce. Much may be said on both sides. "For better or for worse" are words of definite meaning. Insanity is as much a disease as tuberculosis. The latter is not considered grounds for divorce. Moreover, supposing the stricken partner to the marital contract has been driven crazy by the meanness and brutality of the other?

The medium should always be in good spirits.

Usually the louder a man talks the less it amounts to.

When it comes to getting his dues his satanic majesty never gets left.

Lives of great men are apt to remind us that they were not infallible.

If you wish to hear a hard-luck story just ask a man for the money he owes you.

The spots on a man's reputation look about ten times larger to others than to himself.

KAPOC

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The weekly publication Commerce and Finance is one of the most interesting that come to my desk.

It is edited by T. H. Price, who has rather an extraordinary combination of common sense and vision.

DR. FRANK CRANE

There is a good deal of information in it for the lay reader; and by "lay" I mean one who is not a financial expert, but simply a plain, every-day person.

For instance, some time ago there was a little article published in that journal on Kapoc by Grinnell Martin, a New York exporter and importer.

It is quite an occasion for anybody, or ought to be, when a brand-new word about something that is brand-new to him meets him.

I never heard of Kapoc, and in what I here state of it I am passing on the information that Mr. Martin supplied.

Kapoc is a sort of "near cotton" which comes from Java. It grows around seeds that are contained in a boll or pod that looks like a giant okra pod which has been ginned just as cotton is.

Not many people know that cotton and okra belong to the same botanical family, and occasionally in a neglected cotton field a half developed okra pod is sometimes found on a degenerate cotton plant, according to the law of reversion to type.

From 10,000 to 15,000 tons of Kapoc is the average crop in Java. Most of it comes to the United States.

It is used by manufacturers of mattresses and pillows, and, said Mr. Martin, "due to its lightness, non-absorbing qualities, coolness, and freedom from matting or bunching, it is now in very general demand, as these qualities make it superior to cotton, and in many ways superior to hair."

A Kapoc mattress weighing thirty pounds will be about the size of a hair mattress weighing from forty to fifty younds.

The Kapoc mattress will cost about $26 and the hair mattress of the same quality about $50.

When a Kapoc mattress or pillow has become matted through usage, it quickly regains its original resiliency if placed in the sun for a few hours.

During the war Kapoc was much used by the government to fill life preservers, as it is lighter than cork in the ratio of six to one.

The Kapoc market seems to have no effect upon the cotton market. It is not a substitute for cotton, neither is cotton a substitute for Kapoc.

The nearest thing to a substitute for Kapoc is down, but down is far more expensive.

The use of this strange material coming from the distant island of Java for the mattresses and pillows for the people of the United States is another illustration of the way in which commerce brings the ends of the earth together and tends to unify mankind.

AT THE LISTENING POST

Physically, you won't be able to discern much difference between the thirty-first of December and the first of January.

Unless one of the days should be stormy or something like that and the other clear.

But under ordinary circumstances they will be much alike.

* * *

Perhaps you will get up at about the same hour each day.

The sun will rise at about the same time.

It will run its usual course through the day.

Be at its meridian at about the same time each day.

And disappear along in the late afternoon.

* * *

The day's events would be much the same, except that one is a holiday and the other is not.

And on a holiday business is suspended.

But that has to do with the routine of the day.

Nothing at all to do with its physical nature.

* * *

If you waked up without a calendar and the day of the year fixed in your mind, you would not be able to say whether it is December thirty-first or January first.

* * *

Let us go back to the day of the schoolboy of few years.

He would not be able to tell Monday from Saturday without a calendar.

And yet what a difference in his impressions of the two days.

* * *

Monday he arises to a sense of weariness and utter desolation.

Five long days of work and study and discipline ahead of him.

The ensuing week seems interminable.

And the lessons and sums to be met and mastered!

* * *

But on Saturday, the world is "brite and fair" as Judge Shute well says.

Fishing in the creek or berrying in the wood or base-balling on the village lot or scouting or something-or-other!

And the day becomes a vista of glory and beauty that cannot be too long.

And yet what healthy schoolboy would wish for a long Monday!

Perish the thought!

* * *

So there is a lot to the day beside its physical and purely chronological side.

There is a sentimental or imaginative side!

A side that makes for beauty and delight or the lack of it.

What real bridegroom would think to measure his wedding day with any of the ordinary chronological or meterological standards?

It is for him a day apart.

* * *

All of the muses and poets and artists and composers united to make the day for him.

All of them poured their best spirit into it.

Because he has poured his best spirit into it.

And every man is all of the muses and artists and poets and composers somewhere down in the secret places of his heart.

* * *

So there is no actual difference between the last day of the old year and the first day of the New Year.

But there is a sentimental and imaginative difference.

For we feel on the New Year that we are getting a fresh start.

We thrill with high resolve.

We make new resolutions.

We look forward to new dreams and delights.

* * *

And we put the old and worn and sorry things back of us.

We will have no more of them.

Sorrow shall not grieve us too much.

Past failures shall not haunt us.

Discouragements shall not prevail against us.

* * *

We will go upward and onward and forward toward the new year and the new dreams and the new happiness.

So New Year's day has its imaginative significance.

Yet the clock goes around the same.

The sun rises and runs its course.

All is the same except in the spirits of us!

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

"Under the Greenwood Tree"—By William Shakespeare (1564-1616)

Under the greenwood tree,
Who loves to lie with me,
And turn his merry note
Unto the sweet bird's throat,
Come hither, come hither, come hither:
Here shall he see
No enemy
But winter and rough weather.

Who doth ambition shun,
And loves to live i' the sun,
Seeking the food he eats,
And pleased with what he gets,
Come hither, come hither, come hither:
Here shall he see
No enemy
But winter and rough weather.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

CHILD GUARDS

[Philadelphia Ledger]

In hungry Russia there are no delicate scruples to keep bandits from breaking into warehouses where food for the children is stored by the American relief administration.

But children themselves have volunteered to go on watch, and their cries of warning are preventing theft on the part of adults whose mental processes are often on a level far below the average childish intelligence.

In fact, if the children took over the whole government of Russia—even as children's committees already to some extent have been given executive control in school administration—they hardly could make a worse mess of things than their elders have made.

Russia's hope is in the young people, whose morale the present chaotic social condition undermines. The Americans now in Russia are trying to build back emaciated bodies to a normal condition, that those whom they succor may be able to assimilate nourishment not merely for a malnutured physique, but for a famishing mind. It is an ironic commentary that a soviet regime which proudly exhibits its care for children as a refutation of all sorts of charges against it makes it necessary for the children to guard their own supplies of food.

A BILL AGAINST LYNCHING

[New York Times]

The house of representatives was to have begun considering yesterday a bill to "assure to persons within the jurisdiction of every state the equal protection of the laws, and to punish the crime of lynching." It is drawn on a simple theory. If a state or a governmental subdivision of it fails or refuses to protect the life of persons "against a mob or riotous assemblage," it may be deemed to have denied the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the federal constitution, and congress may therefore provide penalties. These are, as proposed by the bill, to "make it a felony for a local official to refuse to "make all reasonable efforts" to perform his duty in preventing a lynching; to make it a felony to participate in "any mob or riotous assemblage by which a person is put to death;" and to make each county in which any one is lynched liable in the amount of $10,000, to be paid to that person's family, or, if he has none, "for the use of the United States. This last provision is already in force in one or more states. It was recommended for Georgia by Governor Dorsey, at the Atlanta conference of last April.

It is high time that by this bill or some other, and by state legislation as well, a strong effort was made to strike at a crying evil which has been too long a national reproach. President Roosevelt made a powerful protest against lynching, and President Wilson vividly set forth the harm which the barbaric practice was doing to the reputation of the United States. There is no doubt of the sentiments of President Harding on this subject. Foreign observers have again been expresing wonder that a nation so ready to cry out upon lawless cruelties in other lands should be so apparently lethargic about those within its own borders. Congress is at least trying to find and apply a remedy.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

Of course there's no law against being cross and forbidding. Neither can any one compel us to be otherwise. We can all do so if we desire. We can scowl and frown and bark and snap and find fault continually. We may even get a certain strange self-satisfaction for the minute out of so doing.

But what does it really bring us? A sort of unwilling consideration, not because of love, but because of desire to escape more unpleasantness. This we may get from others. But grouchiness never begets love, or admiration, or respect. It was never known to. It doesn't even bring happiness to ourselves. Nor does it tend to continue self-respect, if we're more than surface livers. If we's not, there's not much hope for us.

There's no law against our being selfish and grasping either. There's no law against always thinking of our own comfort first. Not a smitch of a one. We can be just as self-bound as we please. And some of us are.

There's no statute against conceit, either. We may believe that all knowledge begins and ends with our own convictions and opinions if we will. Surely. We can wax sarcastic and unbelieving and intolerent concerning the convictions and opinions of our friends and associates if we want to.

There are so many questionable qualities that we may cultivate—if we wish. But their value isn't much when compared with their cost. Is it?

That being so, what's the use of cultivating them?

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

One of the judges of the superior court is treating in a series of able papers the subject of congested dockets. His idea is to arrive at some remedy.

HENRY JAMES

Perhaps suggestions from an outsider would not be welcomed. The mere citizen is supposed to know nothing of such matters. He has the right to wonder at the slowness of judicial procedure, but at this point doubtless his right is considered to end.

However, the thought is advanced tentatively and timorously that if lawyers were forced to cut all the monkey business, and to permit the matter at issue to be decided on merit and law, rather than on technicality, quibble and trickery, it would help some.

Of five men supposed to have been guilty of the murder of two police officers, one killed himself. The other four await trial. The process should be short and sharp. If the four are guilty, it would be quite impossible to hang them too soon.

A public that tries to be law-abiding, and desires to go about its business in safety, has become very tried of having the streets infested by thugs, thieves, dope fiends and assassins.

One of the announced numbers on the program of a current murder trial was a hypothetical question that would consume several hours in the propounding.

Of course, there could be no legitimate reason for such a question. The only effect of it would be to weary, confuse and delay.

Bootleggers do not fight fair. Hence when one of them is arrested and affirms that the arresting officers were drunk, there will be marked hesitation about accepting the statement.

Such an episode marked the arrest of a man near Long Beach. The officers denied that they had been drinking, but are credited with admitting that they had just enjoyed the hospitality of a roadhouse where they partook of an excellent dinner "cooked in wine."

That was a peculiar sort of dinner, likely to affect the breath, and give a prohibition officer a repute not helpful in his business.

The case of Mrs. Albano probably is unique. She is charged with murder, and admits killing a man. Her story is that in pursuance of Black Hand tactics, he had called upon her with a demand for money; that she had reason to believe that already he had killed her husband.

If her story is true, the visitor got nothing more than he deserved when she shot him with the full rounds of two revolvers.

Perhaps it was just as well that the grand jury concluded not to make further assaults on the district attorney just at this time.

Mr. Woolwine is a very busy man. He is engaged in trying a murder case, with others to follow immediately. He probably could not do these duties justice if obliged to divide his time by repelling an attack from a body supposed also to stand for law and order.

There is not a crook, confidence man, thief or assassin, in jail or at large in Los Angeles county, but would rejoice to see Woolwine discredited and deposed. For these sinister forces to have the backing and co-operation of a body representing the law, would indeed be an odd spectacle.

A problem engaging medical science is that of cancer. Science seems to be making little if any progress, despite the devotion of specialists.

Last year there were 73,000 registered deaths in the United States from this malady. The estimate is several thousand greater, or about 89,000. Probably a remedy will be found. Yellow fever once was regarded as impossible to check, and now in latitudes where formerly it flourished, it is unknown.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Along toward the end of last summer I got a mighty good chance to make some money. Some friends of mine in the city offered to put me in on it. Some friends of theirs were going to float a new oil stock, they said, and they arranged it so I could get in on the ground floor.

"I'll only take a little," I said. I'm sly that way. Devilish sly. If this were a skin game I didn't propose to be skinned very deeply.

"You can't get much," they said. "It is too closely held. You'll be mighty lucky if you get a couple of hundred dollars' worth."

Well, sir, the wife made an awful fuss when she heard about it. But you know how wives are. They don't know anything about business. They are not expected to. Business isn't their business. But the Missus made such a distressing noise that I yielded in part:

"I'll only take two hundred dollars' worth," I said. "Just for a flyer."

"All right," she said. "But promise me one thing. They tell you that you are being given this stock as a favor. Now, if when you come to buy you discover that you can get more than two hundred dollars' worth, do not buy until you talk it over with me."

"All right," I said.

"It's a promise," said she.

So I went down to the office to take two hundred dollars' worth. But the young fellow there said he had been told I had been assigned five hundred dollars' worth. He said that the agreement was perfectly clear and the certificate had been made out in my name. If I didn't want to carry that much he said I could get out of it the next week. The stock was to be put on the open market then, and the plan was to boost it up four or five points in the first few days. But a promise is a promise and I didn't take any. There are no terminal facilities to my wife's talk when I break a promise to her.

It's a funny thing. But nothing has ever been heard of that stock since. If it ever went on the market it was on the groundhog market, which is held in a hole. But my kind friends in the city have bought a new car.

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

The railways of the United States use about 90,000,000 ties a year, for renewals and new construction. This is equivalent to 300,000,000 cubic feet of timber.

KNOX HOME IS SCENE OF PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Knox of Central avenue entertained a number of friends at dinner Christmas. The affair was especially pleasant because of the charming hospitality of the host and hostess. The dinner was bounteous and admirably prepared, while the table decorations were particularly beautiful. The center piece was a Santa Claus in a sleigh, driving six reindeers over a roadway of snow. Streamers of red and green ribbon and ropes of tinsel were carried to each plate where every guest found their place cards and a favor.

The guests were: Rev. Thomas Stevenson, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eaton and Mrs. Flora Eaton and Walter Eaton and Mrs. Janet Walden, all of Los Angeles, also Mr. Loren Wiggins who is a student at Occidental College and who is soon to leave for China as a missionary.

BLANCHARDS IN FAMILY REUNION

A happy family reunion on Christmas day was the one at the W. A. Blanchard home on Angelino avenue when Mrs. Blanchard's relatives were entertained. The guests were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stevens of Santa Ana; her brother and his wife, Rev. Paul Stevens of Pasadena, and another brother, H. J. Stevens and wife and children of Los Angeles.

The rabbi was born in Austro-Hungary in 1876 and took up his residence in Columbus in 1907. He is prominent as an author on Jewish history and bids fair to honor his race and his country in his new position.

IMPROVEMENTS DEFERRED AGAIN

Protest Against Alleged Excessive Cost of Work

The awarding of the contracts for the improvement of Magnolia avenue; Tenth street west of Olive; San Fernando boulevard and Elmwood avenue, has been deferred again by the city board of trustees. At the regular meeting held Tuesday night the matter was taken up, but Mr. Duncan Forsyth appeared before the board relative to the awarding of the contract for the improvement of Magnolia, and protested against it because of the excessive cost per front foot. After considerable discussion it was moved by Rouscup and seconded by Meyers that the awarding of the contracts for all the mentioned streets be held over until the next meeting.

At this meeting a petition was presented by J. Radcliff for the vacating of Fairmount avenue from Third street to Fourth street. This petition was signed by the board of school trustees, by Mr. Radcliff and D. Forsyth. After due consideration the city attorney was instructed to draw up the necessary resolution of intention as covered by the petition.

J. Bates was before the board with regard to the proposed subdivision of the tract between Cedar and Providencia avenues and Sixth and Eighth streets, and requested the board to approve the matter, but no action was taken.

Mr. Mattas brought up the question of opening Cedar street to Tenth and was advised to take the matter up with the owners abutting on this street, and, if possible, secure deeds from them.

The recent storm is claimed to have damaged some up near the hills, for the trustees heard Messrs. Phillipi, Brunnett and Swalina, who appeared in regard to the damage done by the storm waters and care of same, along Tenth street and Sunset Canyon Drive near Elmwood and Providencia. The matter was turned over to the streets committee for investigation and report.

The matter of employing a man to assist fire truck driver H. M. Davis was taken under consideration and it was decided to employ Mr. Balschweid for two weeks at $4 per day; and give the plan a trial.

After routine bills were allowed, the meeting adjourned.

Miss Claire Glenn of 532 Verdugo avenue, together with the Misses Alice and Leeta McCoy and Louise Green of Glendale enjoyed dinner Wednesday evening in Los Angeles after which they attended "The Bird of Paradise," showing Hawaiian life. This was especially interesting to this party, as last summer they journeyed to Honolulu, where they spent several weeks.

BURBANK MIGHT SHOW BIG GAINS

Nearly Two Millions in Buildings During Year Closing

If the facts could be known, it is very probable that Burbank would show in valuation of building permits issued for the year just closing, a greater sum, in proportion to population, than any place in the United States.

One million, sixty thousand, in round numbers, is the wonderful record for this city, and that is what might be termed "legitimate" building, not the result of a boom such as is experienced at points where oil or gold has been discovered. Burbank's growth is the result of natural conditions and therefore based upon solid founuations with the reasonable expectation of a continuance of this same forward marching.

Los Angeles very rightly boasts of her building record for the past year and holds that it is in excess of about every other city in the country, but in proportion to the population, Burbank has considerably outrun her great mother city, according to official figures as reported by the city papers.

Permits were issued by Building Inspector Bond for the erection of 507 buildings. Of this number, 277 were for dwellings and 230 included stores, apartments, garages, factories and all structures except dwellings. The total valuation of the dwelling permits is $542,700, while the total valuation of the remaining permits is $517,187. Last March was the banner month with a total of $196,593, while January, the first in point of time, was last in point of valuation, with a total of but $26,260. November ranks second with over $117,000 valuation and October and June follow third and fourth with over $100,000. Due largely to the stormy weather which has prevailed for the past two weeks, this month has dropped below November to the $51,630 mark.

This is a record which should thrill every citizen of Burbank; a record of which every man and woman may truly be proud and one which should be an inspiration to greater things in the year just opening. The causes which have combined to produce such a result for a place of less than six thousand population, still prevail, and if they can effect such figures in 1921, with united effort on the part of every individual, they can be made to do more in 1922. Sincere and active co-operation can accomplish marvelously, and if every man and woman in business or just quietly in the home, will give their undivided support to the reorganized Chamber of Commerce in addition to individual work for the city, the end of another year will find Beautiful Burbank a truly Bigger and Better place in which to establish that finest of all institutions—a home.

MRS. DOAN MADE REPORT SESSION

At the last meeting of the Woman's club, held Tuesday afternoon, an interesting report was made by Mrs. L. B. Doan, of the meeting of the district board of directors of which she is a member. She is also chairman of the country life department.

Among matters which were discussed at the board meeting, as reported by Mrs. Doan, was that of co-operative work for the ex-service men, and Mrs. Crawford of the Cosmos club, who is actively and enthusiastically engaged in this line of helpful service, stated that two acres of ground in the Forest Lawn cemetery could be purchased for $7,500 and an option can be had on more if wanted. It is desired that through subscriptions, this sum may be raised and the ground purchased and used as a burial spot for those service men who have no relatives nor money with which to provide a burial place other than in the Potter's field. Action on this matter was started because of the case in which a soldier was about to be interred in the Potter's field and the rites were all but concluded when a Post heard of it and stopped further ceremony and later provided another burial plot.

NEW PASSENGER RATE PLEASING

Those residents of Burbank who have occasion to travel back and forth to Glendale are congratulating themselves because of the new schedule of rates to become effective on the electric line, with the beginning of the new year. The new rates are based on mileage and therefore the fare is reduced very materially, for it is now out of all proportion to the distance. The rate from Burbank to Los Angeles has been cut a few cents, but a few cents—only, for the round trip, but at that, Burbank is more fortunate than many of Los Angeles' suburbs, for they have been considerably increased much to their dissatisfaction, but the reason this city's fare to Los Angeles was not increased but slightly decreased was because it has in the past, through the excessive rate to Glendale, been abnormally high, higher in proportion than other cities.

Mrs. Minnie Hough Humphrey, librarian, who resides on Orange Grove avenue, has been ill this week and confined to her home. Her place in the library has been filled by Mrs. John Forsyth of Cypress avenue and Tenth street. Mrs. Forsyth has been the efficient substitute several times.

BURBANK'S HIGH TO BE LAST WORD

Health of Students Will Be Big Consideration of Architects

The accepted plans for the Burbank high school, work on the construction of which is soon to begin, provide for a structure of beauty, practical utility and scientific designing in the matters of health and sanitation. Every detail has been carefully planned by the architects and the school board and not only have present requirements of the school population and its health been taken into consideration, but the needs of the future have been held in mind in the making of the plans for the new building and the laying out of the site. In this regard, the building to be erected now is but a beginning and while it will amply and efficiently take care of all necessary demands now, it is but the first unit in a group of buildings, nor even will it be wholly completed in itself as the auditorium will not be built until some time in the future when the school board has acquired more funds.

The building will be located on the site which occupies the territory between Walnut avenue and Grinnel Drive and Third and Fourth streets. Twenty thousand dollars was paid for this ground. The building will cost about $120,000, and as the board had a total of $161,000, a remainder of $21,000 is left which will be used for equipment.

The construction material will be red brick with a tile roof of Spanish architecture. Cut stone trimmings will be used around the doors and windows. A front section of the building some twenty feet in width will be one story with a roof garden above. Immediately back of this, the building will rise to two stories, while the wings, generally used as class rooms, will be but one story in height. Between the wings and in the rear of the two-story section, the space will remain open for the present, but when funds are available, it will be built in with an auditorium. Corridors and an open space along the class room wings will permit of abundant light and air from the outside. On the ground floor and in the rear, in a line with the stage of the auditorium when it shall be built, will be placed the lavatories and toilet rooms. It was the purpose of the school board to have nothing in the basement but the heating and ventilating systems and storage room.

Eighteen class rooms have been provided for and the sciences will have their laboratories. Those taking domestic science will have training in a real little house, as a small portion of the building has been allotted to the making of a complete, modern little house where the scientific care and management of such may be learned. The administration rooms will be in the front just back of the entrance which will be beautiful with its plate glass doors and ornamental trimmings. The roof garden, it is thought, may at times be used as class rooms as is done in many other schools.

The plans for the future include a completely equipped building for use as a work shop and another one modernly arranged and furnished for athletic purposes. These would be built in the rear of the main structure.

With no unforseen delays, the proposed high school will be ready for use at the beginning of the next school year in September. The additional room which this will furnish is very much needed, as the present buildings are inadequate to the needs of this rapidly growing city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hall of Sprague, Washington, registered at the Elizabeth Saturday. They are spending the winter in Burbank.

TRUNK LINE FROM HERE TO CITY PLAN

Chamber of Commerce Will Endeavor to Bring About Improvement

A trunk telephone line between Burbank and Los Angeles is greatly needed and it is a possibility which may become an actuality in the near future if the Chamber of Commerce is able to put through its plans in that direction.

At the Wednesday luncheon of the chamber this matter was brought up for discussion and it was decided that efforts should be made to secure this advantage for this city and the question will be taken to Mr. Fred Deal, manager, at Glendale and others of authority.

Another matter of importance was discussed, that of garbage, which has been a growing problem for some time, but Secretary Colburn of the chamber thinks the situation may soon be partially relieved at least, as a man has been found who will take the garbage from the hotels and restaurants for feed for his hogs. The collection from the residences is not of so great importance just now, and it is hoped that later when the weather becomes warmer, that part of the problem may have found a solution.

George Bollinger, druggist, made an enthusiastic talk on co-operation in which he declared that "Burbank, I Love You" should be the slogan of every merchant and other citizen of the place. Several other short talks were made by City Clerk Webster; Mr. Schrader of the Burbank Electrical Shop; A. R. Graham and A. C. Filbach.

On Wednesday night the board of directors of the chamber held a meeting at which was shown a remarkable spirit of devotion to the cause of a bigger and better Burbank. There were present several of the city's leading citizens who signified their intention of co-operating with the chamber in its work of re-organization and its efforts to promote the interests of the place, while the official body of the chamber engaged itself to aid in the service of keeping the good name of Burbank always high and honorable before the world, and it was understood and agreed to in all harmony, that a veil of good will and co-operation should be drawn between the future and any dark cloud that might have hung over the past, and to this end official action was taken on some matters which will be reported later.

NUMBER OF METERS SHOW BIG GROWTH

Figures have just been compiled from the city records relative to the number of water and light meters now in use as compared with the number last year. On December 31, 1920, there were 895 water meters in use; now there are 1248, an increase of 353. Of flat rate consumers there were last year 55 and now 117, an increase of 62. The number of electric light meters in use on December 31st, 1920, was 887. At the present time there are 1310, making the number of new meters installed during the past year 423. This indicates there is some activity in the meter installing business and these departments of the city have a job laid out for them.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR MRS. BOWEN

A Christmas holiday event of delight yet tinged with sadness was the Christmas tree and party given by Chapter U, P. E. O., at the home of Mrs. Bowen. The affair was for the children of the members of the P. E. O. and a farewell to Mrs. Bowen, who is very soon to leave for Mango, Mexico, to join her husband, who has been appointed chief engineer for the Southern Pacific of Mexico.

A feature of the occasion was the surprise orchestra made up of children of the members, who appeared and rendered four numbers in a very excellent manner. The orchestra was composed of three violins, three clarinets, a saxophone and piano. Other children sang and danced and recited. At the conclusion of the program, Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts and then refreshments of ice cream and wafers were served.

Miss Irmadean Bowen, who is spending the holidays at home from her school studies at Pomona College, assisted in the entertainment. She will return to the school when Mrs. Bowen starts to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dodge and Fred Dodge of Verdugo avenue were guests of friends in Los Angeles, Christmas.

One-half mile beyond, we are opening our Burbank Acres, to be placed on sale about January 1st.

Arrangements are now completed for the immediate construction of a number of attractive homes, plans and prices of which can be seen at our Burbank Office. Street improvements are now going in, all free of cost to purchasers, also gas, water and electricity.

Following our usual custom, we have deliberately placed opening prices below the actual market value. It is our desire that the first purchasers should participate in the profits invariably arising from the building up of a new community.

Turning the New Leaf

Write It 1922

TONIGHT, in the still hours before dawn, the old year will steal away and take its place in history as one of the greatest years in the history of this world. In 1921, the first great step has been taken by our nation to bring about a better understanding among nations. This will be crowned with success. It may not come at once, but it will come. The seed of friendship and tolerance has been planted on fertile soil. For this, there should be great rejoicing and great reverence for the accomplishments of the old year now taking wings on its flight into oblivion.

We, who jointly contribute this sentiment for the consideration of all people of this great city, desire to extend our best wishes to all during the new year about to make its advent into the pages of history. Tonight, we turn the new leaf and look ahead. May our vision extend to all things that will bring health, prosperity and good will among the people of this great city. The growth of Glendale and the success of its people depends upon what the people themselves put into the city. Cities are like human beings. They grow with what you put in them—not what you get out of them.

May all your hopes—all your aims—all your aspirations for accomplishment in the new year be realized. The infant 1922 is going to be just what you want it to be—nothing more, nothing less.

ROASTING PLANT M.J.B. COMPANY SO. CALIFORNIA

Well Known Company Extends Operations to South

Coffee drinkers will be interested to know that the famous M. J. B. brand, on sale in all grocery stores in Glendale, Burbank and Eagle Rock, is now being distributed from the new Los Angeles plant of M. J. Brandenstein & Company.

This is additional proof that Southern California is recognized as one of the main distributing points by all manufacturers and industries. Manufacturers all over the country are establishing branches in and around Los Angeles and notable among them is the M. J. Brandenstein and Company.

M. J. Brandenstein and Company is one of the oldest coffee roasters on the coast, and for years cared for the Southern California business from San Francisco headquarters. With the tremendous influx of people to Southern California, sales of M. J. B. coffee increased so rapidly that the company found it necessary to open offices here several years ago, and handle Southern California business direct from the Los Angeles office.

Increased business activity in Southern California made it necessary to establish a roasting plant and warehouse, and only recently it has taken over an entire building, located at 848 Traction avenue, Los Angeles.

The first move of the company was to put in thoroughly modern equipment from roof to basement. No expense was spared in making the Los Angeles branch one of the finest of its kind. Roasting machinery of the very latest and most approved design has been installed. Spur track facilities have been installed and from this new branch, M. J. B. products are distributed fresh from the factory to the grocery trade throughout Southern California.

To this up-to-the-minute equipment, a fleet of M. J. B. delivery trucks has been added, and a telephone order service that is speedy and reliable. A sales force operates from this branch and deliveries are made in the Los Angeles territories the same day orders are received.

"Just a few days ago," says Mr. Emmerling, manager of the Los Angeles branch, "I was in San Francisco. The M. J. B. people are amazed at the growth of Southern California, and at the widespread demand that exists in this territory for M. J. B. coffee. They realize that the grocers appreciate the superior service this new M. J. B. branch is giving them."

Thou art welcome, '22, with all thy train,
Where late thy Sire held sway, come in and reign.
We pledge allegiance true,
And thy attendants twelve, O glad New Year,
As they shall come and stand beside thee here,
Shall each be welcome too.

We know not what the treasures thou shalt bring,
If it be that wherewith the heart shall sing
With great exceeding joy;
Or of the measures thou shalt pour beside our feet
Be all with dregs of bitterness replete,—
Not gold, but all alloy.

We still shall bid thee welcome, bright New Year!
And as we strew white flowers upon the bier
Of one whose work is done,
We smile and give thee greeting, glad New Year,
Even though it be through falling tear,
Welcome, thou happy One!

MOLLY O' TO SOON BE IN GLENDALE

Within the near future, "Molly O," the Mack Sennett production for Associated First National Pictures, starring Mabel Normand, will be the attraction at the T. D. & L. theater. The production is the second venture into the dramatic field by the producer who is acknowledged king of comedy. "Mickey," his first dramatic story, was enjoyed by more people and shown by more theaters than any other motion picture production ever made.

Mr. Sennett reassembled the same personnel which aided him in making "Mickey" for the production of "Molly O." Mabel Normand, the star of "Mickey," is the star of "Molly O," and both productions were directed by F. Richard Jones under the personal direction of Mr. Sennett.

The picture has been advertised "the creator of 'Mickey' and the star of 'Mickey' in a story greater than 'Mickey,'" and critics who have seen the production declare that the advertising is conservative.

BETTIE COMPSON IN NEW TRIUMPH

Ralph Allan announces Sir James M. Barrie's famous novel, "The Little Minister," picturized by Penrhyn Stanlaws for Paramount and in which Betty Compson, beautiful star has the stellar role, and which will be the attraction at his theater tomorrow and Monday, two days only, is the fifth of that writers works to reach the screen.

'I am in love with Lady Babbie," declared Miss Compson, after she had finished making the picture version of "The Little Minister." "I think it is the best part I have ever had in pictures. The character is so sweet and lovable and the surroundings of the quaint village of Thrums so adorable that I almost wish I had lived in the days of which Mr. Barrie wrote."

RECITAL FOR FUND CATHOLIC CHURCH

The first twilight subscription recital to be given on a Sunday afternoon by the Glendale Theater will take place January 15 at 4 o'clock and will be a benefit for the organ fund of the Holy Catholic church, of which Rev. James S. O'Neill is pastor. It will be given under the joint auspices of the Glendale council, Knights of Columbus, the Holy Name Society, and Young Ladies' Institute.

Mrs. Charles Morris and daughter, Mrs. Frae Rohr of Orange Grove avenue, were the dinner guests Thursday night of Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Hunt, 644 Myrtle street.

MARIE PREVOST IN NOBODY'S FOOL

"Nobody's Fool," with the vivacious Marie Prevost as the star, will be seen at the Glendale theatre tonight. Supporting Miss Prevost is Harry Myers, the famous "Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," and a star in his own right.

This combination of comedy talent promises to make "Nobody's Fool" one of the hits of the season.

Shunned by the smart set of fashionable Barton College, poor Polly Gordon almost moped her little life away. She danced like a Barracuda out of its element, but even her beauty was hidden under the forbidding blemish of a large pair of tortoise-shell glasses. Then came the deluge. Money rained into her life. A nice old aunt had died, leaving Polly heir to a million-dollar estate. And then you should have seen the boys run. They sped like the fire chief going home to lunch.

But Polly had made up her mind about men—she decided she didn't like them. She went to a little out-of-the-way mountain cabin to escape. Artemus Alger of literary tendencies had the same caustic opinion in regard to the nicer sex. But fate left an open switch, and Polly Gordon and Artemus Alger collided.

GREAT ARTISTS AT T. D. & L. SOON

Ralph Allan announces the following from among the biggest film attractions by Paramount and First National will be presented by him at the T. D. and L. theater within the next two weeks:

"Molly O," the triumphant spectacle by Mack Sennett, featuring Mabel Normand; "The Little Minister" by Sir J. M. Barrie with Betty Compson in the leading role; Norma Talmadge in one of her greatest pictures, "The Wonderful Thing" (which will be exhibited beginning tomorrow, Sunday; "Under the Lash" starring Gloria Swanson; and "My Boy" with Jackie Coogan, the boy actor who made so great a hit with Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid."

VAUDEVILLE AT T. D. & L. TONIGHT

The splendid vaudeville show and Anita Stewart picture, "Playthings of Destiny," will be offered for the last time tonight at the T. D. & L. theater. Tomorrow, (New Year's) will see Norma Talmadge in "The Wonderful Thing," as the attraction of the popular playhouse.

John Robert White, son of John Robert White, Jr., and John Richardson, motored to King City this week and are expected home today.

NO SANE MAN CAN ACT LIKE BURCH

Fact He Sleeps Well Is Sign of Insanity Says Alienist

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—Arthur C. Burch is an insane egotist, Dr. Willard B. Kern, prominent alienist declared on the stand today at Burch's trial for the murder of John Belton Kennedy.

"I have examined Burch about 20 times in the county jail, and have watched him closely while in the courtroom," asserted Dr. Kern, who is a faculty member of the University of Southern California and former superintendent of the Norwalk Insane asylum.

"On two occasions I noticed Burch asleep in court, while testimony of an incriminating nature was being given against him," Dr. Kern continued. "I believe him of a normal mentality, because entire unresponsiveness to ironment and to the serious- the charge against him. is a marked ego, in itself ion. He truly believes him- great man. He exhibits a nt tendency to pay no at- at all to what any sane man regard as a tremendously thing—the charge against e sleeps ten hours a night r these circumstances. He slumbers in the courtroom while damaging evidence is being given against him. All these points prove conclusively, to my mind, that the defendant is insane."

JACK MULHALL IS MARRIED AGAIN

Screen Colony Hears of Betrothal of Lottie Pickford Now

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—Lottie Pickford, sister of "Little Mary," and herself a former motion picture favorite, is to marry Alien Forrest, actor, on January 7, according to a rumor current in Hollywood. Lottie Pickford was divorced a year ago from Albert G. Rupp, New York broker, whom she married in 1912. She charged Rupp with desertion.

The screen colony was congratulating two more newlyweds here today, following the marriage of Jack Mulhall and Evelyn X. Winans, famed San Francisco beauty. Mulhall's former wife, who was Miss Laura Bunton before her marriage, committed suicide here a few months ago. His first wife, formerly Miss Bertha Vuillot, beautiful Parisienne, said to have been the original Gibson girl, also died.

A woman is never happily married until she has refused at least one other man.

THESE GIRLS HOOFED IT ACROSS CONTINENT

These four winsome girls have just completed a transcontinental hike from New York to San Francisco which started from New York last June. The trip was enlivened by such experiences as being chased by 3000 longhorn steers, held up by highwaymen and lost for several days in a dense forest. The photograph shows, from left to right, Miss Bud Bender, Miss Mabelle Halstead and Miss Adelaide Wilson. Seated, Miss Antoinette Currier. Miss Wilson is a Columbia university graduate, and Miss Halstead is a freshman there.

ITALY WILL ENTER WORLD ATHLETICS

Will Put Her Athletes in Olympiad Next Spring Is Report

ROME, Dec. 31.—With the launching next April of a national university Olympiad, which it is planned later to develop into an international one, Italy plans hereafter to play a leading role in world athletics.

Plans for the first university Olympiad next year have just been completed by the general council of the committee for the National Italian Olympiad. The games will be carried out under the patronage of King Victor Emmanuel and Crown Prince Umberto and with the co-operation of the ministers of the interior, of public instruction, of the war and of the nevy. These have already granted subsidies of 100,000 lire towards the project.

Italy's athletic reawakening is one of the direct results of the war. The calling under arms of five million young men, the great bulk of whom coming from remote peasant districts had no previous idea of athletic training, has had the effect of changing the whole national as well as individual viewpoint towards sports, which before the war, were admittedly backward in Italy.

The war as a matter of fact reawakened Italy's consciousness of what she was capable of doing in the way of sports and athletics. The result has been that even in the short time that has elapsed since the closing of the war, Italian athletes have carried off the great bulk of the honors in all international contests that have since been held at Paris, London, Belgium, Luxembourg, and elsewhere. As a consequence Italy has just organized nationally for the first time for the purpose of going after world honors and sports in athletics.

JAIL ATTACHES ON STAND TODAY

Alienists for State to Hold Burch Is a Sane Man

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—Ten jail attaches, five newspaper men, five special investigators attached to the district attorney's office, two residents of Harlowtown, Mont., two county jail prisoners, two alienists; this is the array of rebuttal witnesses which the state placed on the stand against Arthur C. Burch today. They all testified that the minister's son accused of slaying of John Belton Kennedy talked and acted like a sane person.

Dr. Louis Webber was the first psychiatric on the witness list. He told of his observations of Buch at the trial and of his visit to the prisoner at the county jail. On this latter occasion he attempted to apply the test of suggestion to Burch with disastrous results to the dignity of the alienist.

Famous Leader Has Nearly 100 in His Organization Now

Lieutenant - Commander John Philip Sousa and his famous band, enlarged this season to nearly 100 musicians, will visit Los Angeles January 2, 3 and 4 as the result of negotiations just concluded between L. E. Behymer and Harry Askin, Sousa's general manager. He will appear at the Philharmonic auditorium in the course of the most extensive continuous tour he has ever made on this continent.

The completion of Sousa's 1921-1922 season will bring the total itinerary of Sousa's band to nearly 800,000 miles, which includes more than 20 transcontinental journeys, five tours of Europe and one zig-zag globe-girdling concert exposition of 60,000 miles. To this unchallenged record Lieut.-Commander Sousa this season will principal cities of Canada.

BOOTLEG STUFF IS RANKEST POISON SAY CHEMISTS

Hoochers Taking Great Chance in Drinking Moonshine

CLEVELAND, Dec. 31.—The "Grim Reaper" is stalking at your side. Casket, hearse and grave are staring you squarely in the face.

Within five years—if you don't watch your step—there'll be enough of you to fill every cemetery in the country.

This warning to present day drinkers was sounded here today by leading analytic and consulting chemists.

Men and women indulging in drinks banned by the eighteenth amendment are, the experts say, slowly but surely asphyxiating themselves. Unsuspectingly, they are assimilating poisons found in almost every so-called "pure, bonded" liquor in these times of bootleggers, amateur distillers and home brewers, according to Assistant City Chemist J. M. Kovachy.

Hundreds of samples of the "real stuff" have been brought to Kovachy for analysis. All, thus far, he says, contained a high percentage of fusel oil. This substance, Kovachy claims, causes the lips and body to turn blue and removes oxygen from the blood.

Fusel oil, the assistant city chemist explained, is a product of fermentation. It consists of a combination of the higher alcohols of which amyl is the chief constituent.

"Illicit peddlers of whisky," says Kovachy, "employ ethylacetate for flavoring purposes in some cases. One of the greatest dangers is that the illicit manufacturer or home brewer does not know the proportions to be used in making his product.

"It is true a portion of the contents of many bottles is pure bonded whisky," asserts M. E. Curtis, proprietor of the Chemical Laboratories.

"But," continued Curtis, "the good liquor is mixed with ingredients that are harmful to the human system."

Acetone, derived from wood alcohol, is being utilized largely in the manufacture of modern drinks, according to Curtis.

"DOC" MUST GO IN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—The district court of appeals today denied a rehearing in the case of Dr. Galen Hickok, convicted a year ago on a charge of performing a criminal operation in San Mateo county. Dr. Hickok waas proprietor of "The Castle," a weird establishment at Salada Beach.

The German mark has now become a mere scrap of paper.

EVERY FOURTH BABY IS A CHINESE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Tell the census bureau your job and it will tell you how many children you should have. Overseers and mine foremen head the list of American papas with an average of 4.6 children each. The marines bring up the rear with only 1.8 per men.

Newspaper men beat the marines but cannot touch the overseers; they rate 2.1 in the parental averages. As a general thing, men who work hard have the largest families. Farmers, blacksmiths and clergymen run over three children a piece. So do paper hangers, door men and bootleggers. Skating rink keepers and linotype men average about two and one-hair children a piece.

GIRL'S FATHER HAS HER ARRESTED BAD CONDUCT

Tom Lyons Also Held for Contributing to Delinquency of Minor Girl

Acting on the request of the girl's father, Detective Sergeants Delgardo and Herda yesterday arrested Allyne Johnson of Eagle Rock and held her at the police station. The father alleges that he can do nothing with her and that she refuses to obey him or to stay home. When arrested she was visiting at the home of friends in Glendale. Her father also alleged that she had been unduly friendly with Tom Lyons, a Glendale boy.

When questioned by detectives and her father regarding her relations with Lyons the Johnson girl stoutly denied that he was anything more than a friend. Lyons was taken into custody by Detectives Delgardo and Herda and upon questioning confessed wrong doing in the matter. The father of the girl said that he had sent his daughter to visit in the east to get her away from the influence of Lyons, and that she recently returned.

The Johnson girl, who is 17 years old, was turned over to the juvenile authorities in Los Angeles in company with Lyons who is also a minor. The girl's father went before the district attorney and signed a complaint against his daughter charging her with delinquency and to another against Lyons charging him with contributing to the girl's delinquency.

Miss Leaha Stewart, of Pasadena, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart, of 346 West Doran street, over the week-end.

You can also judge a man by the habits he keeps.

BRAZIL ELECTION HAS BIG THRILL FOR EVERY ONE

Next March Is Long Way Off But Game Has Started

RIO DE JANIERO, Dec. 31.—Although the presidential elections will not be held until March 1, next year, excitement throughout the country already is intense and numerous disorders have occurred.

So far the disturbances have been confined largely to the capital, where supporters of Dr. Nilo Pecanha, the opposition candidate, have attacked a number of newspaper offices and indulged in disorderly street demonstrations.

For three days the famous Avenieda Rio Branco has had a military aspect, mounted federal police are patrolling the entire business section and big motor patrol wagons, filled with military police, fully armed, stand at strategic street corners ready to rush to the scene of any outbreak.

Lives of newspaper editors supporting the government candidate, Dr. Arthur Bernardes, now president of Minas Geraes, have been full of excitement. Yesterday afternoon thousands of "Nilhistas" gathered in front of the office of one small afternoon journal and indulged in a noisy demonstration which resulted in numerous cavalry charges to clear the streets. A number of leaders were arrested.

The press campaign has been particularly bitter, the rival candidates being charged with everything from burglary and bribery to inciting murder.

At present there seems to be a strong opinion among the more conservative journals that neither of the candidates now in the field will be elected.

SEEK FORTUNE IN AFRICA, SORRY

Soldiers of Fortune Fare Badly, and Want to Come Home

LONDON, Dec. 31.—British and American "soldiers of fortune" who went out to follow their careers in the Spanish Foreign Legion in Morocco are in many cases finding their task a disappointing one, according to Lieut.-Col. C. P. Hawkes, writing in a London paper.

Many of the men who, enticed by the terms of service, sailed last August, have now found their way to Gibraltar with reports of hardships and sufferings that have befallen them, Hawkes writes.

"The men now complain that the conditions of service were grossly misleading and that the arrangements for clothing, feeding and medical care are unspeakably bad."

"The Spanish Army," Hawkes states, "is notoriously unorganized for war. It possesses no divisional or other field organization, and no machinery for the rapid mobilization or training of an expeditionary force." Commenting upon the military qualities of the enemy, Hawkes pointed out that the Riffi tribes were Berber mountaineers who have never been dominated, even by the Romans or the Arab invaders whose faith they adopted. They appear to be adepts at entrenchment and in the use of wire; and their troops possess some field pieces and machine guns, probably captured. They have never lacked rifles and ammunition.

Human nature is what causes us to send flowers to the funeral of a man who never had any bouquets thrown at him when he was alive.

EVERY LITTLE BIT HELPS WOOLWORTH

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The F. W. Woolworth company syndicate of 10-cent stores has closed the biggest year of its history, an announcement of sales records showed here today. Sales totals reached $147,500,000, which is $6,600,000 more than the previous year. December was the biggest month, with sales of approximately $24,000,000. In the seven business days preceding Christmas, sales were $11,049,790, or an average of $1,580,000 daily.

Inspiration and prayer are the two roads to Eternal Life.

Without inspiration, prayers are as dead things in the burying-grounds of Lost Hope.

A New Year is dawning on earth,—a year that promises to give to the world an understanding among the civilized peoples that will avert warfare and crown the teachings of Jesus Christ with glory.

The great nations are coming to see the Light of the beacon of the Brotherhood of man. Inspiration furnishes the fuel for that Light, and prayer furnishes the glowing rays.

All men agree that there is a Supreme Power. That Supreme Power is on the throne of Grace today, just as it was 1921 years ago when in the manger at Bethlehem, the Christ child was born.

The Christian religion is the stepping stone to Eternal Life, and the key to the door of happiness in life. In the past two years, the Christian religion has made wonderful strides. The people of this great country have abolished the liquor traffic and now they are leading in the work to abolish warfare. The American nation is a Christian nation,—and its Christianity is being put to a practical test.

The Hope of the world lies in Christianity. The great army of Christian people is marching onward under the banner of Jesus Christ to bring this world into the fold of peace among men. The army is not mobilized by drafting men and women into the service of God. They are all volunteers, each one striving to "do unto others as they would have others do unto them."

More volunteers are needed to battle with the forces of evil. More men and women whose children are faithful attendants at Sunday school are needed in the church body to wage battle against the monster of evil that is rising for existence. Each recruit into the fold of Righteousness means a better world for your children to live in when they reach the day when they too, must battle with Temptation. If the Christian religion is good for your children, it is better for you.

Begin the new year right. Go to church Sunday and through inspiration and prayer, let yourself help to bring about peace among men that is now just over the horizon.

Go to church Sunday. If you are not a church member, go to one church tomorrow and another church next Sunday. It is the only way to find inspiration for prayer that leads to the path of Everlasting Life.

Start the New Year right. Go to church.

STUNNING FASHIONS FOR OUT-DOOR GIRL IDEAL FOR SPORTS OR STREET COSTUME

These photographs show two stunning fashions for the outdoor girl. At the left is a camel's hair scarf of yellow, with bars of black. It is ideal for wear with any sports or street costume. The other charming combination is a hat of tan-wool and a scarf of tan camel's hair, with a gay border of plaid.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

A QUESTION OF FOOD.

By M. JESSIE LEITCH

It was winter in a little straggling town in the heart of the western Rockies.

And the woman who did not run to the store every day, as did most of the women in the little town, entering the solitary general store with her monthly list of groceries (which never failed to stir the respect and admiration of the storekeeper) stopped for a moment to speak to the wistful baby sitting in a shabby carriage on the sidewalk.

The baby she had never seen before. She knew most of the miners' babies, except the very new ones, and the woman smiled at the little wistful baby that was so white and pudgy-looking. The baby stared back at her with dark eyes, unblinkingly, then looked away again. Not a flicker of interest in the baby face.

The woman, who loved every baby as a matter of course, singled out the mother of that little wistful baby the moment she had entered the store.

She was a tired, thin woman.

Gives Orange to the Baby.

And when she had ordered her groceries and scooped up her change from the counter she selected a large orange from the dozen she had just bought and, following the stranger out of the store, she said, pausing beside the shabby baby carriage: "May I give this to your baby?"

The baby was staring at the orange, making no attempt to take it.

The mother flushed, then took the orange gratefully. The two women started up the snowy street together and the woman who had lived in the camp for a year said:

"Have you just come to town?"

And the stranger said: "Yes, from the flats."

Then, of course: "How old is your baby?" to make conversation.

"Twelve months old, but he's poorly. He can't even pull himself up by a chair yet. And he hasn't any teeth. And next to no hair. And he doesn't seem to thrive like the rest of the children. I have five."

Child Unlike Her Own Baby.

The woman, who had several children of her own and the rosiest most active kind of a baby, exactly twelve months old, was instantly drawn to the wistful baby. The same age as her own jolly little rascal. And such a difference!

Gently she led the conversation into food channels.

And was amazed to find that the white, pudgy baby had never in his whole twelve months tasted orange juice or meat broths or taken more than a spoonful of water at a time.

She was incredulous, almost. Then looking at the tired, weary-looking mother she realized that all lives do not fall in easy places. Oranges were expensive—in the mountains. Still there was prune juice. Prunes were one of the food staples in the camp.

But the stranger mother had never even heard that prune juice was good for babies. Or that green vegetables, pressed through a colander, were excellent. As for canned tomato juice, which is very good indeed for babies, she professed horror at the thought.

Great Change in the Baby.

No, the baby wouldn't drink water. Sometimes a spoonful—sweetened.

So in the days that followed the woman, interesting herself in the little wistful baby, brought about a complete change in diet.

Instead of always having the same patent food the baby had oat and barley gruels, strained, with fresh cow's milk. He had strained meat broths and pieces of toast and stewed fruit juices, and even soft-boiled eggs. And it was only a matter of weeks till there was color in the white cheeks and considerable action in the little stolid body that was fast becoming energetic because of the new diet.

The Crippled Oak

By JOHN BRECK

Do dryads never grow old? In the fabled lore which poets hand us down they are ever slim and beautiful as maple saplings, rosy pink with spring, or as alluring cypresses beside a brook. But so do they ever speak of all things feminine save the ill-omened crones who take out their spite on youth. And surely the world has held all ages and all conditions through all time.

Some oaks are sturdy and masculine, spirited by shaggy fauns. This one is not. From the first glance, in the far distance, she looks an old, old woman bearing up her weight of years with the aid of two staffs.

As you come closer you see that life must have dealt hard with her. She must have been well past middle age, a buxom tree fit for many a green May to come, when flood and storm swept her root-hold from under her. Or was it an earthquake? It took some cataclysm, surely, to beat her to her knees? But it could not beat her to the earth; two branches, grappling with the sod, sustain her still. Much of her head is leafy though dead twigs stand up like elf-locks, and one bare limb seems upraised to brush them aside. Her beauty, her statliness are gone, yet there is no piteousness of defeat about her.

No, for ivy bushes mingle their gay clusters among her brown ones, and here a nest has woven twigs of the two together. A tangle of briars hedges her about with flower and fruit in season, food for insect and bird and beast. Herbs crush fragrantly beneath your feet as you come near to rest on her leaning trunk and scare the squirrel who was licking his fur on the [illegible] above. A mysterious rush [illegible] heart may be a deer. Such is the place they choose for sleeping, and her acorns hang temptingly low for them to nibble. But she keeps safe the secrets of her friends.

You know what her dryad would be like—a little old woman, gnarled and bent, a bit untidy through sheer forgetfulness of self, but bright of eyes as the wild things. A kindly pottering body, content to take a hand in every one else's affairs since she is past undertaking important ones of her own. We have them in human life—they do not waste their spirit regretting the grandeurs of the past, they plant flower gardens.

Thomson, who lived in the country, decided to come to town for a week-end. Meeting Johnson, they began to compare the town and country. Johnson, who was proud of the city omnibuses, asked what the traveling facilities were like in the country.

"Oh, very slow!" exclaimed Thomson.

"What speed do you call slow?" inquired Johnson.

"Well, for instance," said his companion, "last week a man in our village decided to commit suicide, so he went and laid himself on the street car track."

"Well, what about it?" demanded Johnson.

"What about it?" retorted Thomson. "The poor fellow died from exposure."

Mrs. Arzelia Stewart, of St. Joseps, Mo., arrived in Glendale Friday morning to spend two or three months with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart, of 218 West Doran street. Mrs. Stewart is very much pleased with Glendale

IS YOUR PLUMBER A ROBBER?

Read This and Judge for Yourself

Books of Every Established Plumbing and Heating Dealer in Glendale are Open to you for Verification of the following Facts and Figures

The Plumbing and Heating Dealer is frequently held up to view as a conscienceless profiteer and extortionist.

He has been accused of charging excessive prices for labor.

He has been accused of collecting excessive profits.

Here are the facts involved; examine them and decide the case.

It is a business fact, that before a profit can be made on any transaction it must provide for, and pay, the overhead cost of doing business.

A detailed statement of the average Overhead (Fixed Charge or Operating Cost) for one year in a shop doing $25,000 volume of business. From figures for 1920, examined and checked by the National Trade Extension Bureau, Evansville, Indiana.

Misc. Office Expense (Sundries)	$ 25	Interest on Owner's Capital	155
Local License Fee	5	Interest on Borrowed Money	105
Telephone and Telegraph	125	Legal Expense	15
Light, Heat, Power and Water	60	Taxes (City, State and County)	70
Stationery, Printing and Postage	85	Miscellaneous Store Expense	12
Trade Papers, Business Magazines	5	Allowances and Bad Accounts	125
Traveling Expense (Conventions, Soliciting, Buying)	125	Non-Productive Labor (Labor not chargeable)	25
Office Salaries (Owner)	1,800	Fire Insurance	19
Bookkeeper, Typist, etc.	1,400	Liability Insurance	184
Auto Expense (Supt. and Owner's Business Cars)	400	Business Insurance	125
Truck or Wagon Expense (Including driver, where charges are made for such service per trip)	406	Rent (Shop and Warehouse, Garage and Yard)	600
Depreciation of Wagons, Autos and Trucks	200	Depreciation (Stock, Equipment and Buildings)	100
Insurance (On Horses or Truck, where charges are made for such services per trip)	15	Damaged Material	12
Advertising and Donations	325	Tools (Repairs and Depreciation)	50
Dues (Associated Plumbers and Steam Fitters)	50	Workman's Compensation Insurance (Based on Journeyman at $9 per day)	122
Dues (Chamber of Commerce or other Civic Body)	25	Miscellaneous Shop Expense	13
		Total of Fixed Charge or Operating Cost.	$6,783

Statement of Distribution of $25,000 Year's Volume.

Cost of Labor and Material	$15,944
Overhead (Fixed Charge or Operating Cost)	6,783
Total Cost of Doing Business	$22,727
Net Profit	2,273
Total	$25,000

As to the first charge mentioned above, you are invited to examine the following figures. You are invited to put them to any test of accuracy.

The average wage rate paid to journeymen plumbers during the last year has been $1.25 per hour.

The ruling rate for resale to the customer for this labor service has been $1.50 per hour.

Under present business conditions the Plumbing and Heating Dealer actually loses money on this $1.25 labor when he resells it at $1.50 per hour, unless material in quantity is sold along with the labor, because of the fact that overhead cost of doing business must be provided for.

This is clearly proved by the following simple example, based upon the business facts and figures for a shop doing a volume of $25,000 worth of business per year with an overhead of $6783.

EXAMPLE

Assume that the first six months of the year is gone, and that no work requiring material remains to be done:

There still remains to be provided for one-half of the year's overhead or $3390.

This overhead is a fixed charge, and under the conditions as stated must be paid out of the proceeds of labor only:

A shop doing no more than $25,000 annual volume of business could not possibly work more than an average of three journeymen:

There remains of the year only 150 working days of eight hours each, or 1200 hours:

Three men working 1200 hours is 3600 hours of wages. 3600 hours at $1.25 per hour, cost $4500 for wages alone. $4500 wages, plus $3390 overhead, equals $7890.

Dividing $7890 by 3600 hours, it is found that each of these hours of labor service must be resold for $2.19 before actual cost of doing business is covered.

$1.50 per hour, for labor service alone, loses for the Plumbing and Heating Dealer 69c on every hour sold, unless material is also sold in quantity to take up this heavy overhead.

As to the second charge above mentioned, we invite the closest examination and inspection of the National Trade Extension Bureau's figures submitted above as to the usual expense of doing business. In these it will be noted that the proprietor, after allowing himself a salary less than the amount he pays his journeymen, has a net profit on a total year's business of $2,273, or only a net 10 per cent on the actual cost of his service. We invite you to ask any business man in Glendale whether he considers a net 10 per cent on cost an excessive rate of profit on the above volume of business.

It does more than that. It embodies an investment that is sure to grow, and that growth promises to be of a substantial character. In many localities in Glendale real estate has almost doubled in value during the past year, and there is nothing to stop it from making a similar advance in the year that is just dawning. The outlook for a "bumper" year along the real estate line is certainly bright. Things look pretty good—after the rain.

This Is Four Bucks in Swedish Mazuma

No, it doesn't look much like money, and we'd certainly hate to carry our "jack" around in this fashion, but Warren Zerbe of Tyrone, Pa., owner of a 50 million dollar colection of coins, makes such things a hobby. This particular piece weighs six and a quarter pounds and measures ten and a half inches square. It is an old Swedish copperplate coin and is worth in exchange for good American money four dollars. Mr. Zerbe has spent forty years in acquiring his collection, which consists of more than 30,000 pieces, and is famous internationally as an expert on moneys.

BETTER STOP

A portly lady had inadvertently taken a seat in a smoking car. With unconcealed indignation she saw a man beside her fill his pipe.

"Sir," she said in frigid tones, "smoking always makes me ill."

The man calmly lit his pipe and puffed contentedly, and at the same time replied:

"Does it, now, ma'am? Well, take my advice and quit it."

LOOK FOR HEAVEN FINDING HADES

WARSAW, Dec. 31.—Refugees, fleeing the terrors of the Russian famine and expecting heaven in Poland, are finding a hell equally as terrible as the one they left.

Streams of refugees continue to arrive in entirely unexpected volume and are succumbing to the cold privation and hunger.

After leaving Baranowicze, they go to villages in devastated regions where there are no crops and no habitations. The conditions they find are as bad as those they believed they have escaped from in Russia.

More than 70,000 refugees have come through Baronowicze in the past month, according to American Relief Administration authorities, and their death rate from the time they arrive at the frontier until they leave will amount to thousands.

ROUGHNECKS IN LONDON DANCE

LONDON, Dec. 31.—The West End dancing man—his sex may be determined on the streets by his trousers and hat—must have his hair waved. Fashionable hairdressers (they aren't barbers over here) are overrun with wave-seeking sweeties on the days before big dances. Those who go in for these, however, are the comparative rough necks of the dancing world. The regular out-and-outer requires, and is now able to get, a permanent wave if he has the necessary eight inches of front hair, four hours of time and fifteen dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart, of 346 West Doran street, will entertain with a New Year's dinner in honor of their mother, Mrs. Azzelia Stewart, who has just arrived from St. Joseph, Mo. Mrs. Mitchel Stewart and family, from Pasadena, will be the other guests.

HOOSTER IS NOW LATE EGG SOURC

HAPPY NEW YEAR

To the People of Glendale

1921 has been a Very Prosperous Year for all the people of Glendale and as the year closes it finds Glendale, as a whole, happy and contented.

1922 is before us. What will it mean to Glendale? The prospects for a year of unusual prosperity are wonderfully bright. Everything is here that would tend to make 1922 a banner year. It is up to the people of Glendale. If every man gets behind the wheel things will continue moving along at a wonderful clip—if they don't, this city will fall back into the rut. We must ALL get busy.

We build homes, and we build homes as they should be built. There is only one RIGHT way to erect a dwelling and we know the trick. Our prices are right. Our motto is to leave a little profit for the home owner. Come in and look over our plans or permit us to draw up plans according to your own personal ideas. We know how.

BORAH GIVES WISE COUNCIL AT END OF OLD YEAR

Intolerance Must Cease if World Is to Return to Peace

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Senator Borah, Idaho, hopes the new year will mark "complete escape from the psychology of war," he said in a New Year's statement today.

"The new year, I hope, will mark a complete escape from the psychology of war," he said Three years have come and gone since the war and yet our national and particularly our international policies are colored and shaped by the old passions and hatreds and intolerances of war.

"Unless we escape from these conditions and devote our minds and our energies with greater tolerance and good will to rebuilding and reconstructing, there is great misery and suffering ahead. Europe is a wreck today because of intolerance and vicious policies. The people must have relief; they simply cannot carry these burdens and go ahead.

"One of the first thoughts which deeply mover Mr. Lincoln toward the close of the Cicil war was that of reconstruction. Many of the leaders thought only of punishment and revenge and of establishing a military oligarchy over the South."

WOMAN WITH "WONDER HANDS" CURES BY MASSAGE

In the Volunteer hospital in the lower end of New York's waterfront there is a little woman who has "wonder hands." Many parents of crippled children will testify to that. Mme. Fanny Amato is the "lady of the wonder hands." She employs nothing but a pressure by the hands on the nerves and tendons of a patient. Those who have been benefited by her treatments claim she has a supernatural gift in her curative powers. The photo shows Mme. Amato working over a little patient.

It is fortunate that the best man at a wedding is content to take second place.

A woman is never happily married until she has refused at least one other man.

TELLS OF HANGING TWO SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

Scaffold Erected in Hospital Grounds Where Men Were Hanged

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 31. — A graphic description of the hanging of two American soldiers, both negroes, in France, was given here today by George D. Glazebrook, fireman first class on the U. S. S. Morvine.

"It was in the early spring of 1919, about March 1, I believe," said Glazebrook. "I was a patient at Base hospital 116, Bazooches, France, recovering from wounds received in the Argonne.

"The scaffold was built on the hospital grounds and about 8:30 in the morning two men were led out. They told me they were being hung without a trial, and that they were charged with a statutory offense. I am of the opinion that they were hospital patients.

"When the men were placed on the scaffold they were given a chance to talk. They mumbled a few words, but were too scared to make a coherent statement. Then the scaffold was sprung and both men's necks were broken."

And a sympathetic tear comes as near being a panacea for all feminine troubles as anything on the market.

HAPPINESS COMES WITH CONFIDENCE

Confidence Comes With Thrift—Thrift Comes With Thought—but you've got to do your own thinking.

NOTHING has ever been accomplished—nothing worth while, without THOUGHT. Thinking is not a science—it is a necessity. Every man and woman who has achieved success in this life has climbed to fame on the ladder of Thought.

While you are thinking of the new year and what it may bring to you, let your thinking crystalize into action, and in that action, place a link for THRIFT. THINK OF TOMORROW and prepare for independence.

YOU may be a good business man or business woman in dealing with others, but what about doing business FOR YOURSELF? You may pay your debts to others, but do you pay your debts to yourself and your family?

HOW much do you have on hand at the end of the month to show for your labors? Do you have as much as ten per cent of what you earned? If not, you are going to be sitting at the side of the road some day wondering why you didn't take that free car to the land of Opportunity.

SAVING a part of your earnings is not a difficult task. All it needs is THE WILL. You can do ANYTHING YOU WANT TO DO if you WANT TO DO IT.

IF you WANT TO SAVE $1 per week, you can do it. The sum of $1 per week saved for ten years will make you worth $520, and if you deposit it in a savings bank, where 4 per cent interest is paid on time deposits, you will have $520 of your own money and $118.04 that your $520 has earned in that ten years. Remember, the men who have gained wealth were patient and made their money WORK FOR THEM.

TEN years seems like a long time, but if you live, the time will go on just the same. Why not improve each golden hour of your life (for remember we are going to be dead a long time) and prepare for the day when old age will pull down your earning power.

READ the following table, which shows you how much you can save and earn by depositing from $1 to $10 from one to ten years. There is only one way to save and that is to SAVE FIRST. Begin now to stow some money away into the bunkers of progress that you may some day feel secure. Read the table and then act.

Deposit of $1 to $10.00 weekly at 4 per cent compounded semi-annually accumulates as follows:

WEEKLY DEPOSITS	1 YEAR	2 YEARS	3 YEARS	4 YEARS	5 YEARS	6 YEARS	7 YEARS	8 YEARS	9 YEARS	10 YEARS

CHILE'S DRYNESS IS FOR POOR WORKER NOW PLANNED

Liquor Restrictions Are Enforced in Slipshod Manner Too

SANTIAGO, CHILI. (By Mail.)—Practical prohibition may soon be enforced in Chile if the law to establish dry zones, projected by President Allessandri, is enacted by Congress. The bill is designed establish a bone-dry regime in the industrial districts, and there seems to be a fair chance of its becoming a law.

Prohibition legislation in a country like Chile—in any Latin country—is decidedly unpopular, but recent developments in the coal mine districts of the south have led legislators and government executives to the belief that the proposed law is the only remedial step that may be taken to avert recurrences at the recent bloody clash at Lota.

This coal mine center was the scene several weeks ago of an armed fight between drunken miners and troops of the "carbineros," the Chilean military police, and resulted in many dead and wounded on both sides. The entire trouble is blamed on liquor by Government officials, although there are many who declare that social unrest in the section has reached such a stage that the Government is well advised to take the greatest military precautions. But the President and his advisors claim that large military forces in the districts are unnecessary if sobriety among the laborers can be enforced.

Restrictions of the sale of liquor are in force and a slipshod sort of prohibition is supposed to be observed over the week-end. Theoretically every bar is supposed to be closed tight from 4 p. m. Saturday until Monday morning, but there is nothing in the law to prevent liquor being served with food, and the better class bars in the downtown sections of Santiago and Valparaiso open for several hours Saturday evening, Sunday noon and Sunday evening. A dish of crackers on each table takes care of the food provision, and brings back recollections of the old Raines law of New York.

In spite of the fact that the persons who possess the wherewithal to purchase at these bars do not suffer greatly under the law, its enforcement is prosecuted rigidly with regard to the small "cantinas," frequented during the week by the working-classes, and the wage of the average "obrero" does not permit him to patronize the downtown liquor establishments.

It is claimed that the law is a success, and that while the manner in which it works out savors of class legislation, it was designed that the worker might bring his wages home to his family on Saturday night in his pocket and not on his breath.

Universal prohibition in Chile, such as is supposed to exist in the United States under the Eighteenth Amendment, is going to take a long time to come, if it ever does arrive. The grape-growing industry is one of the most important of the country and it represents the investment of millions.

FIND IT HARD TO PAY INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—If members of Congress have any doubt that it is harder for the man with a small income and consequently a smaller tax to pay to meet his obligation to the government, he might scan tax return figures just made public.

The figures show that 1,227,141 persons with a taxable income over the $5,000 mark found in necessary to pay on the installment plan. Only 402,575 persons with incomes of over $5,000 found it necessary to pay in installments.

Patience is a splendid virtue—in others.

FIRST PICTURES OF RELEASE OF IRISH PRISONERS AFTER PEACE TREATY WAS SIGNED AT FINAL LONDON CONFERENCE

Following the signing of the peace treaty between Ireland and England there were many stirring scenes in Dublin. While the Dail Eireann cabinet was meeting at the Mansion House, political prisoners were being released from camps and jails and were given cordial receptions by relatives, friends and thousands of sympathizers who flocked to the lockups on receipt of the news. The above photo shows two of the prisoners being greeted by friends as they left Kilmainham prison, Dublin. A prisoner is shown, in the lower left-hand corner, being given a railway warrant by a soldier. These warrants were given to all those who lived any distance from the camp.

LIQUOR REACHING HOUSTON FROM ALL SOURCES

Cuba Is Said to Be Chief Source of Texas City's Damp Goods

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 31.—Houston, termed by some as the "Bootleg Center of the Southwest," is inhabited by scores of wholesale and retail dealers and salesmen.

The man termed the "Whisky King of Houston" is outwardly known as a quiet, law abiding citizen, owning and operating a respectable restaurant. This man is a wholesaler.

The liquor received and sent out from here varies from packages containing one bottle to ship and train-car loads. These shipments are disguised as medicine or toilet waters for the smaller consignments and cars of lumber for the larger. Some ships coming into the port here for cargoes of oil and cotton bring in quantities of bonded stuff for distribution.

Liquor, from the poorest grades of "corn," to any brand of bonded goods and imported wines, are permanently on sale here, wholesale or in small quantities. Prices range from $8 a gallon for the poorer "corn" to $144 and $20 a quart for well known brands of bonded whisky.

The direct basis of supply for Houston wholesalers and retailers in the business is agreed to be Cuba and the West Indies. Some consignments come from Mexico and others from European countries.

The largest foreign shipment recently was received some two months ago when a ship from a European country, coming here for a cargo of cotton, brought a quantity of cognac. With retail sales small wine glasses, with the coat of arms of a European nation cut in the side, were given away as souvenirs. Besides the famous inland ship channel here, as a basis of liquor supplies, quantities have been known to be brought in by train.

A story told at police headquarters relates how a lumberman-bootlegger in Louisiana shipped a carload of bonded goods through here for Dallas. From outward appearances the car was loaded with lumber only. News of the shipment was received too late for interference and from last accounts the "lumber" had been disposed of and principals involved had disappeared.

Arrests for violation of the eighteenth amendment here are few compared with other cities of corresponding size, official records show. This is a concentration point for inland shipments. Besides the waterway, there are seventeen railroads entering here. With a large transient population, officials are unable to keep tab on all persons of doubtful business, they admit. A "guest" at one of the biggest local hotels brought in a large sample case filled with 200 quarts of bonded goods. He sold out in two hours at established prices and moved on. The police did not learn of his presence.

FAWKES BUYS IN BIG CITY BAKERY

C. A. Fawkes, who sold the Rolin' Pin Bakery to Messrs. Amm & Stinson, has purchased a large interest in the Clara Lewis Corporation, one of the biggest baking concerns in Los Angeles, and will become manager of the main plant at Sixty-first and San Pedro streets, Los Angeles, as soon as he can take care of the details incident to the sale of his business here. Mr. Fawkes built up a big business here, and only sold because he had larger interests to look after. He will still reside with his family in Glendale.

PAT FARED BETTER THAN PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—President Harding is very considerate of White House clerks. He kept Pat McKenna, the faithful White House attache, until long after 7 o'clock one night.

"I'm sorry I have kept you so late, Pat," the President said, as he signed the last letter. "Here's a cigar, the only one I had given to me today."

"That's all right, Mr. President," Pat replied, "but they gave me two cigars today."

JAP SOLDIERS IN RUSSIA TIRED

Ready to Quit and Join Folks at Home Now

TOKIO, Dec. 31.—The Japanese soldiers in Siberia want to come home. They're not in love with the beautiful snow. The people want 'em to come home too, because the tax-payers have been told that from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 might be reduced from the next budget if the cost of the Siberian expedition could be eliminated. There are evidences, some think, that the military authorities themselves are coming to regard the Siberian affair as a white elephant on their hands, and that they'd like to unload.

Information from a source very close to the late Premier Hara is that just before his assassination he was considering plans to effect soon a withdrawal of the Japanese Siberian forces. This informant says Hara had gauged the situation in all its aspects and had deliberately concluded that even if the militarists opposed him—which he was not certain would be the case—he could go to the mat with them and win.

That, however, is merely a matter of speculation now. No definite movement is under way for Siberian withdrawal and there seems to be no prospect of any for the present. The severe Siberian winter is setting in, and the general opinion is that it would be very difficult to get out before Spring, because of weather handicaps.

Meanwhile the deadlocked conferences at Dairen continue between Japan and the Far Eastern Republic. The delegates of the Far Eastern Republic, which has its capitol at Chita, and which, theoretically, is a non-Bolshevist buffer state between Japan and the rest of Siberian Russia, have insisted upon a specific Japanese agreement for troop withdrawals. Japan declines any agreement other than to withdraw when convinced the Far Eastern Republic can maintain law and order and protect lives and property in the territory it claims to control.

There is a rather general disappointment in the Dairen conference. In fact the Japanese and Russian newspaper men covering it got so disgusted not long ago that they met in solemn convention and unanimously passed resolutions that unless the conference perked up, they were going to leave it flat, to struggle through a hard winter as best it could without them. These resolutions were presented to the conference the next day, and gravely returned to the correspondents by the official press-agent, as a part of that day's conference communique.

Since then the only news has been that the conference is still deadlocked. Some form of trade agreement may come out of the Dairen affair, but it is not believed here that it will involve formal recognition by Japan of the Chita government. While professedly non-Bolshevik, Chita is supposed to be under the wing of Moscow, and it is said in Tokio that not the least of Japan's purposes in sitting on the lid at Vladivostock and Far Eastern Siberia is to choke off any possible spread of Bolshevism to the shores of Nippon.

BUENOS AIRES NOW BUILDS HOMES FOR PEOPLE

You Buy a Site and City Builds the Home For You

BUENOS AIRES, (By Mail to the United Press.)—Action has been taken by the municipal council of Buenos Aires to build a home for any person who can acquire a plot of ground on which to place it. Various efforts have been made to solve the housing problem, which is one of the most difficult in the world, houses being so scarce that about 85 per cent of the families of workmen are forced to confine their lives within the four walls of a single room in a "conventillo," or tenement.

The latest plan call for aid on the part of the city, which expects to invest fifty million pesos in constructing cheaply good homes for persons who acquire building sites.

Another effort in the same direction is being made by a private organization called the Argentine Catholic Union, which has laid the cornerstone on the first building of a group which eventually will number 111 apartment houses, where families will be able to secure comfortable quarters at a low price. This group has been designed in accordance with the most modern ideas and will include a maternity home, a first aid station where medicines and treatment can be secured, ample playgrounds for the children, and a location for a co-operative store to supply the needs of the hundreds of families living in the section.

The work already under way includes 64 houses. The first group will be ready for tenants within six months, it is expected.

HOPE ALIKE FOR FAT AND SKINNY

Operation on Hogs May Solve Big Problem For Humans

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Much excitement has been aroused here over the news from Schleichegrieben, Germany, that Prussian farmers have devised a way of extracting fat from live pigs, so as to have the pig, and eat it, too.

Papers printed photographs showing pigs "before and after." When the pig had been properly fattened, it was said, it was taken to a veterinarian who administered a local anaesthetic, removed a section of fat, sewed up the porker, tied on a large bandage and sent it home for more fattening. Interviews with prominent English raisers of pigs revealed that this method had not been tried in England and probably would not, because of its roughness on the pig.

Considerable speculation was aroused, however, some persons thinking that the operation might be a useful adjunct to the monkey-gland operation. Bay windows, it was pointed out, could be removed, thus completing the renovation. Beauty specialists were also asked their advice as to whether such an idea might be used to help the fashions in women's shapes, introducing real fat instead of bustles, or having the fat removed instead of prohibiting malted milks and potatoes.

A skeptic has, however, given these revolutionary ideas a setback. He observed that the name of the German village mentioned means in English, "Sneaking fat."

AN OVERSIZE BATTERY

What is the first thing a tire salesman tries to sell you when you buy tires? Over-size or standard tires? Naturally an over-size, why? Because it will give you the longest service. That same reason applies to a Westinghouse Battery, having two more plates per cell in the same size box as you formerly had, therefore more "KICK" or power, in our Westinghouse Battery and long service, or in other words an over-size battery.

LICENSE PLATES TO BE RENEWED

Motorists Should Read This and Be Guided by It

Here is the latest information for motorists in securing the state license plates for the new year. Every automobile owner should read this and then follow the instructions carefully so that there will be no delay in getting the plates on the car in order to conform with the law. This "dope" is given out officially by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Your 1921 certificate of a registration properly signed by the registered and legal owner of the car will constitute the application for a state license for the operation of a motor vehicle.

Bring this to the Automobile Club, if you are a member, or to the motor vehicle department otherwise, with a check on a California bank, post office money order or currency for the amount of the fee which is based, as in the past, on forty cents per horsepower of the car. To determine the amount of the fee, multiply the designated horsepower by forty cents.

Be sure that your 1921 certificate of registration is legible, for otherwise it will have to be sent to Sacramento for verification before the application for new plates can be handled. No certificate of registration bearing marks of alterations or erasures will be accepted.

If you have changed your place of residence, make a note of same and the new address on a slip of paper which must be pinned to the certificate. Do not write the new address on the face of the certificate. If you have lost your 1921 certificate, apply immediately for a duplicate certificate. Applications for duplicate certificates can be secured at any auto club office. If you have no certificate, secure one at once and avoid delay and confusion later.

Remember in buying a new car now that 1921 licenses do not expire until February 1. In applying for a new license prior to that date, you will be required to pay a fee for the last quarter of 1921. In cases of transfer of ownership, be sure the proper signatures are on the certificate—the one of the buyer, the seller and the legal owner.

Where a company or corporation is given as the legal owner, be sure that the certificate is countersigned by some official of the company.

Visiting motorists from other states will also be handled by the Automobile Club in securing licenses and non-resident permits. At the expiration of the non-resident permit, visitors are required to take out a California license and in order to obtain same, visitors must surrender their home state certificate, license plates and windshield sticker.

Operator's licenses do not have to be renewed. Duplicate cards can be secured at a cost of twenty-five cents each, by applications obtainable at the club. Cards must be carried at all times in this state.

THREADED RUBBER LASTS LONG TIME

Threaded Rubber, used only in Willard batteries, lasts as long as the plates! The weakest spot in common batteries has become, in Willard, the strongest. The part that caused expensive and annoying repairs is, in the Willard, the most durable and trouble-free part. The Willard Threaded Rubber battery, therefore, will give you more use and will stand more abuse, and if only you will give it the slight but regular care that all batteries should have, it will return to you every month and every mile of service that any battery could possibly give you under the particular driving conditions you have!

These Threaded Rubber Willard batteries are sold in Glendale by the E. W. Cizek Auto Electric company, 300 South Brand boulevard. The sale of these batteries was greatly stimulated recently by a material reduction in the price. On account of a lowering of the cost of the materials used in the construction of the Willard Threaded Rubber batteries the Willard company has been enabled to greatly strengthen and improve the battery and at the same time lower the cost to the user.

The Cizek company reports that 1921 was a very successful year for them. They thank the people of Glendale for the patronage that has been accorded them. Mr. Cizek wishes every resident happiness and prosperity throughout the entire of 1922.

GOOD BUSINESS IN STORE IN 1922

"We want to take this opportunity to wish the motorists of Glendale the happiest and most prosperous kind of a New Year," said J. V. St. Clair of the Club Garage, 107 East Colorado, this morning. "From our little corner it looks as though Glendale is sure to experience a great wave of prosperity in 1922. There is a spirit in the air that cannot be denied. The folks are thinking, acting, hoping and confidently expecting better times, and when a whole city feels this way there is surely going to be "something doing."

"The patronage we have been receiving since taking over the Club Garage has been exceedingly encouraging. Our old customers and friends that we gained through our work while in our former location have followed over to the Club Garage and in addition, a large number of new customers are coming in daily. We ask only that the motorists of Glendale give us a trial. If they do this we know they will surely come back. Many new features in the way of time-savers have just been installed by us and we are able to take care of any job, any time, no matter how large. We have a tow car that is available for service both day and night. We also take care of automobile electrical work of all kinds."

Men with cheerful dispositions are more inclined to borrow money than trouble.

AUTO DEALERS SEE BIG FUTURE

"Automobilely speaking, 1922 should be the brightest year that Glendale has ever known," said "Web" Webster of the Standard Garage, corner Kenwood and Broadway, today. "Everything points to a touring season in this section of Southern California that will be far more enjoyable than any that motorists have thus far known. The roads are in exceptionally good shape at this time and the road departments of the various cities and counties, as well as the state road authorities, are making elaborate arrangements to keep the roads in good shape throughout the winter months. There will doubtless be washouts caused by flood waters but the road departments are making preparations in advance to take care of this emergency work. All this makes us feel that a bright touring season is ahead of us. So far as we are personally concerned, we are starting 1922 with bright hopes. The people of Glendale have, in the past, learned that we are doing conscientious work and are trying to give a little more than a dollar's worth of work for every dollar received. This is resulting in "repeat" orders, and those who have dealt with us are bringing in their friends. This encourages us to more earnest work and makes us feel that the future will be unusually bright from a business standpoint."

GARAGE ENJOYS FINE BUSINESS

"We are more than pleased with the patronage the people of Glendale are giving us," said the proprietor of Henry's Garage this morning. "Since we took over this garage our business has been constantly picking up until we now have as much as we can do. The increased patronage we have received has resulted in several additional workmen being employed.

"For this patronage we sincerely thank the people of Glendale. Upon starting in business here we adopted a policy of giving a little more for the money than the other fellow. Evidently this policy is being appreciated by the motorists of this section, for they are coming in in larger numbers all the time.

"We do garage work of all kinds and we do it well. We wish to extend to the people our hopes for a very happy and prosperous New Year."

FISH AND TARR HAVE GOOD YEAR

"Our company experienced a very successful year throughout 1921," said O. W. Tarr, of the firm of Fish & Tarr, Chevrolet agency on East Broadway, this morning. "In fact, our business more than trebled in size since we took possession of our new location. Early in 1921 we purchased the lot on which we are located and erected our present building. This we took possession of last August. The very act of moving seemed to be a stimulus to our business.

"The drop in price of the Chevrolet automobile is generally known, but all prospective motor car buyers are not aware of the fact that while the price was being reduced the quality of the car was, in many ways, enhanced. The Chevrolet of 1922 is a perfect car in every way and is certainly excellent value for the price."

QUALITY SHOULD BE YOUR GUIDE

"In buying a storage battery for your car, the purchase should be made with regard to quality and not to price," said H. M. Parker of the Autolectric Service company, of West Harvard street, this morning. "There is so little difference between the price of a standard battery and that of one that is of questionable quality, that it more than pays the purchaser to buy one that he knows is right.

"The Exide is without doubt the largest and the strongest battery in the world. It is the battery that never comes back through weakness of material or defect in workmanship. It is the battery that is filling the bill wherever a storage battery is concerned."

HERE'S GARAGE LIGHT FOR THE POOR MAN

A very satisfactory light for use in the garage may be made by cutting the side out of an empty metal can of the sort that metal polish comes in, which has a screw top. A case of this kind obviates glare and also affords protection to the glass bulb. By running a layer of solder in the bottom of the can to give it weight, it makes a stand for the light, which can be conveniently used on the work bench.

Give Your Auto A New Year's Bath

There is only one RIGHT way to start the New Year—that is by having the coat of dirt and grease removed from the family auto. During the past year the old machine has done your bidding without so much as a complaint. It has covered miles without number and has purred along week in and week out, never complaining at the treatment it has received.

Why not decide right now to play fair with the faithful old machine. Give it a bath—a real, sure-enough bath. Let us clean off the mud and grime, the stains and grease. In other words, let us give the car a touch that will put it in another class, that will improve its appearance a hundred per cent. Hundreds of cars in Glendale have received our treatment, and we have never had a complaint from the owners.

And let us grease your car while it is being washed. The cost is trifling. We Simonize, too. We treat you right.

JAPANESE DIET HAS ITS TROUBLES

Statesmen Grapple With Much the Same as Our Congressmen

TOKYO (By mail).—The new session of the Japanese Diet, which convened the middle of December, is wrestling with almost the same set of problems the American congress confronted.

They are—(1) Reduction of cost of government and lowering of taxes; (2) reduction of the high cost of living; (3) reviving depressed foreign trade and assisting businesses and industries that are hard hit and in some cases, with existence imperiled; (4) helping the farmers; (5) quieting social unrest; (6) minor phases of tariff problems involved in general tax revision; (7) relief to the merchant marine.

The budget, or appropriation bill and taxes have aroused the greatest popular demands here, as in the latest session of congress, for the simple reason that in Japan, as in America, these touch practically every pocketbook.

There is the difference, however, that the Diet is less powerful than congress and cannot clean up many angles of the problems it confronts, no matter how much it may desire to do so or how much it may debate and vote upon them.

The question of universal manhood suffrage will be brought up again at this session. This is a "demand" on the part of a comparitively small group. It is the "desire" more or less vague of a larger number. But it is a matter of complete indifference, as yet, to thousands. The enthusiasts for universal manhood suffrage are always met with the argument that it would be unwise and dangerous to extend suffrage to people unprepared for it, that suffrage must be broadened slowly in Japan, as education and other conditions justify this, after some years reaching in safety a goal that would cause trouble if leaped to at once.

The "vote for every man" leaders reply that the best way to learn how to vote is practice.

It makes a nice debate, but the "go slow" element always wins and probably will this time.

Numerous proposals will be made for utilization of the money expected to be saved from naval appropriations as a result of the Washington conference. These take the general form of increased funds for education, good roads, etc. At the same time there is so strong a protest at high rates that a tendency is developing not to re-appropriate for other purposes the money lopped off from naval items, but just "wipe it off" and thus lower taxes.

YEAR'S TIME GET 15,000 MILE TRIP

SYDNEY (By mail to the United Press).—One of the record sailing trips of history was completed here a short time ago, when the yawl "Amaryllis," of 28 tons register, commanded by Lieut. G. H. P. Mulhauser, an Englishman, completed a 15,000 mile trip from Plymouth, England, which lasted nearly a year.

After clearing Plymouth the yawl made for Spain, thence to Madeira, the Canaries, the Barbadoes, around Jamaica to Colon, Galapagoes, the Marqueses, Society Islands, Cook Islands, Friendly Islands, Fiji, Noumes and Sydney.

The skipper describes it as a fair weather trip until the run from Noumes to Sydney, when heavy gales were struck. The crew of the "Amaryllis" consisted of two young men until Suva was reached, when F. Albercrombie, an American engineer, joined the yawl and helped steer her into Sydney harbor.

BONUS BILL WILL BE PASSED SOON

Legion Head Says He Has Assurance Aid Will Be Given

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 31.—National Commander MacNider, of the American Legion, today stated that he had assurances that the World's War Veteran bonus bill, now in Congress, would pass Congress and go into effect in July, 1922. His assurances, he said, came from Senator McCumber, N. D., and Rep. Fordney, Mich., sponsors of the bill in the Senate and House respectively.

When and if the bill becomes law in its present shape, each ex-service man or woman will be entitled to the following options:

1. Adjusted service pay, at the rate of $1 a day for home service and $1.25 for foreign service. Maximum of $500 for man without foreign service; $625 for man with overseas service.

2. Adjusted service certificate (so called insurance feature), a paid-up-20-year endowment policy. The fact value of this policy will be 3,338 times the amount that would be received in cash. The face value of this policy would be payable to the veteran at the end of 20 years, the face value would be paid to the beneficiary of the policy. Loan values are also provided for.

3. Vocational training aid of $1.25 a day while taking a course in vocational training. The amount thus paid in no case would exceed 140 per cent of what would have been paid in cash.

4. Farm or home aid, 140 per cent of what would be paid under option No. 1, if the money is used to purchase, improve or make payments on approved farm or city or suburban home.

5. Land Settlement.

(a) Provides for the establishment of reclamation projects for the development and improvement of vacant land. This may be government land or may be land purchased by the government. If possible, project will be located in each State, the State paying part of the purchase price of private lands bought for this purpose. Ex-service men to be employed on the project as far as possible.

(b) Provides for the sale of farm units on these projects when they are ready for settlement. Sale price is to include purchase price of land plus cost of improvement. Terms, part down, rest in 40 years at 5 per cent interest.

(c) Veterans may have their adjusted service pay applied as first payment on this land.

The legion refers to the bill as the adjusted compensation measure, claiming that the term "bonus bill' 'is unjust to the men who will profit by the investment.

A washerwoman applied to a man for work, and he gave her a note to the manager of a certain club. It read as follows:

"Dear Mr. X. — This woman wants washing."

Shortly afterward the answer came back: "Dear Sir—I dare say she does; but I don't care for the job."

"First Lady" of South China Kidnaped by Bandits

Mme. Sun Yat Sen.

Madame Sun Yat Sen, wife of Sun Yat Sen, president of the South China Republic, who has been kidnapped by bandits and is being held in the mountains by her captors for $500,000 ransom.

The kidnapping took place at Kweiling, in Wwangsi province, the bandits disguising themselves as soldiers. Madame Sun was en route to join her husband, who is at the head of his armies marching toward Peking. She was to have taken charge of the Red Cross work of the southern armies.

SELLS NINE OF 14 NEW HOMES HERE

Henry Michel, contractor and real estate dealer, has sold nine out of the 14 new houses which he recently built on the west side. He has only five houses left and says "if you want a big bargain you will have to hurry for they will soon be gone." Mr. Michel showed splendid enterprise by buying a tract of land and cutting one of the main streets through to San Fernando road. His success in the real estate and building business in Glendale has been remarkable during the past few years.

It's a sign that he isn't married to the right woman if a man sits up and takes notice of every noisily dressed female that passes.

PEEPER CATCHER WORKED TOO WELL

False Alarm Results After Inventor Did Good Work

DETROIT, Dec. 31.—Police drag nets are obsolete in the automobile city. Everything here is done by machinery. Inventors are in demand even by the police department.

Robert A. Vander Pyl, attached to police headquarters, has invented an automatic "Peeping Tom" catcher. It worked. As a result, the police commissioner has requested Vander Pyl to confine his work to research in endeavoring to devise an automatic clew stick and a police divining rod to replace the patrolman's regular club.

The automatc "Peeping Tom" catcher was invented as all great inventions are to fulfill a demand. Last week Vander Pyl found his garbage can in the rear of his apartment removed under the window of the first floor bedroom of the Misses Iva Casey and Edna Stockley.

The result was a patented article, guaranteed to work or money back. Officer Vander Pyl wired two barrel staves together, placing a cushion spring half-way between with two wires on the opposite end from where they were attached. These were placed under the garbage can. The wires ended in a nearby police station where they were attached to a bell.

Two days later, the bell rang loudly about 8 o'clock in the evening. Police answered in force, and found that Miss Stockley had pushed her electric iron off the window sill, striking the garbage can.

GRIGSBY CUTS BUSINESS NAME

C. W. Grisby, owner of the Pet Poultry and Stock Exchange, has dropped the name of the business and will conduct the same under his own name in the future. He is making many changes in place and will add new lines, and will be prepared to take care of the needs of the public in a highly satisfactory manner. He will add fertilizers, garden seeds, etc., to his already good line, and will make special inducements to Glendale people who want to get the best with the least money!

"So you've got an accident to report, have you?" said the head clerk to the foreman of the works.

"Yes, sir," said the foreman. Then he paused a while, gnawing his pen reflectively, before handing over his report.

The latter read as follows:

"Date, March 31. Nature of accident: Toe badly crushed. How caused: Accidental blow from hammer. Remarks——"

"Right," said the clerk, "but why no remarks?"

"Well, sir," replied the foreman slowly, "seein' as how you know what Bill is, and seein' as how you know that it was his toe what was hurt, I— well, I didn't like to put 'em down."

Even a white lie s seldom so white as it is whitewashed.

A SONG ON MILO WHEAT by T. W. McConnell

You ask me, friends; why really, now,
I haven't much to say;
But I am sure that Milo Wheat
Is for the best today.
Now, some things let me speak about
That you may plainly see
When folks once taste of MILO WHEAT
You'll need no other plea.
For folks who eat this food,
I'm sure you will hear say:
"For strength, health and every ill,
It's best, we know today;
We're living now on MILO WHEAT,
Our bank account will grow,
For we can have a good square meal
For three cents now, you know.
You know our days are perilous times
When all will have a test,
And they will surely want to eat
The cheapest and the best.
It will not be so very long
Till you will hear the call
For MILO WHEAT from every class,
Both rich, poor, large and small.

SEWER QUESTION WAS DISCUSSED

Eagle Rock Chamber Meeting Talks of New Proposals

Although the hoped for mass meeting Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Central school building, did not materialize, owing to the unsettled weather and the holiday season, there was quite a large attendance of persons interested in the sewer question.

President Miller, in opening the meeting, said Eagle Rock has got beyond the village stage, is growing rapidly, and the time has come to consider important matters, for the good of the community. A town in order to progress must have some definite point of view and be ready to take needed action on improvements that must be faced sooner or later. In the absence of the committee on street lighting, their report was not received as had been expected. The increased telephone rates were briefly discussed and a motion was carried to refer the matter to the executive committee of the chamber, with power to confer with the city trustees as to the advisability of co-operating with Los Angeles in a petition for a re-hearing before the commission.

C. W. Young, chairman of the committee on high school bonds and site, spoke at considerable length on the details of both projects. Eagle Rock, he said, has an opportunity to share with Glendale in one of the best things that can ever come to this vicinity—the Union High school. With the modern methods of education, which include athletics, at least 20 acres of ground are required for such a school. The Glendale school, he believes, has increased in number of pupils faster than any other high school in Los Angeles county. The proposed site near Eagle Rock was selected before the bond election that was defeated some time ago, and is now the unanimous choice of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce committee, and approved by many residents of Glendale as well as by Eagle Rock. Among the reasons why it is superior to the Gray tract in the northwestern part of Glendale are its street improvements; transportation facilities, larger size, water supply of 25 miners' inches, and more beautiful situation.

City Manager Reeves of Glendale, who was to speak on the sewer plans being worked out in that city, was unable to come but sent a substitute, —— Stone, the city engineer. He brought two maps for the inspection of the chamber. Work would have started Wednesday on the sewer district, comprising six business blocks in Glendale, he said, but for the stormy weather. After outlining those plans, he stated that a sewer district would soon be mapped out at Verdugo Woodlands, where the stream furnishing the domestic water supply is in danger of contamination from the cesspools on the hillsides. Mr. Reeves sent word that Glendale's plans were for a plant large enough to take care of a district including Burbank and Eagle Rock, if at any time this should be desirable. The system being installed is a combination of septic tanks, the units so constructed that they can be connected with the main plant.

Dr. Geo. P. Clements, who resides at 125 North Satsuma avenue, Eagle Rock, has been connected with sewerage problems for three years past, and in his department of the county offices, an average of 30,000 letters of inquiry a year are received. Because of the physical features of Los Angeles and surroundings, he said, this whole district must eventually have one great outlet, no matter what individual systems of sewerage there may be. He referred to the difficulties in the way of an outfall sewer on a coast aligned with beach resorts. Such a disposition of sewerage, he pointed out, has virtually destroyed the whole Atlantic coast fishing industry, through mineral poisoning and septic infection of the fish and oysters. Oil, worst of all, deprives them of oxygen, and Los Angeles has more oil in the sewerage than any other city in the world. The most serious economic question of all, he maintained, is the water supply of Southern California. Agriculturists are beginning to realize the precarious situation. Our sun is a greater destroyer of vegetation than that of any other place in the world outside of Sahara, and the water supply is steadily dwindling. There should be no more dumping of sewerage into the sea. Through modern methods of activation, pure and inodorous water may be reclaimed from the sewerage, for use upon the land, preserving the balance between agricultural and urban waters, which must be done. The waters of the Colorado river are going to be needed and must be had. Septic tanks are absolutely inodorous, less objectionable than canning factories. Eagle Rock is perfectly situated for sewage disposal and should now have an option of five acres in the vicinity of Glassell Park, as a site for a plant. Tentative figures of the cost of building a plant to accommodate this valley and the expense to lot owners were given.

The president then called on J. C. Clausen, another resident of Eagle Rock, who was for ten years at the head of the engineering work on the Los Angeles sewer system. He agreed with the previous speaker on the feasibility of clarifying the affluent from sewerage and of using the sludge as fertilizer, but he was not in favor of a separate plant for Eagle Rock. The sewer in the Glassell district, he said, was designed to take care of the Eagle Rock sewerage and is 18 inches in diameter. He closed his brief remarks with the statement that, in his opinion, Los Angeles sewerage will go into the ocean for a considerable time in the future, but in a clarified form.

As the hour was getting late, the meeting was now adjourned.

SUNDAY SERVICE AT EAGLE ROCK

All Churches Will Start New Year With Big Program

Dr. John Hedley, pastor of the Methodist church, will preach Sunday morning and also in the evening. His topic in the morning will be "Hitherto, Henceforth," a looking backward and a glance forward. The cantata which was to have been given on Christmas was postponed on account of the stormy weather and will be sung tomorrow evening. Between its two parts the pastor will preach a sermonette. The special service by the primary department of the Sunday schoool, directed by Mrs. DeLozier, was also postponed and will be presented tomorrow. The offering for needy children of all lands will be taken at that time. The Epworth League subject for the meeting at 6:30 will be "The High Calling of God in Christ Jesus," Mrs. E. A. Brown, leader.

A large number of candidates for admission to the Congregational church will be received New Year's morning and there will be special music under the direction of Mrs. Paul Elderkin. The pastor's sermon theme will be "Hunger," the great heart-cry of humanity and its need for sympathy. Rev. E. Morgan Isaac's lecture will consider "How I Am Going to Make 1922 the Greatest Year in My Life." A special invitation is given the public.

Rev. B. B. Weatherall's sermon, in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, will be on "The Past and the Future." His subject in the evening will be "The Faith of An Outsider." Mrs. Elizabeth Cloud Miller, a well-known dramatic reader of Eagle Rock, will recite Henry Vandyke's "The Other Wise Man," and stereopticon slides will illustrate the story. This church will receive new members and dispense the sacrament of the Lord's Supper on Sunday, January 8.

There are no announcements from the other churches.

MASQUERADE TONIGHT

Under the auspices of the Women's Twentieth Century Club, there will be a New Year's masquerade party in the clubhouse tonight. Mrs. Claude Williams, 151 North Kenilworth avenue, is chairman of the party committee. Admission will be $1 a couple and war tax. There will be good music and a good time.

SCIENCE LECTURE WELL ATTENDED

Paul Stark Seeley Presents Themes of Science to Audience

The lecture on "Christian Science: What It Is and How It Works," in the Women's clubhouse Tuesday evening, was largely attended despite threatening weather and the holiday season. Paul Stark Seeley, C. S. B., the lecturer, is a member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church in Boston.

He spoke of Christian Science bringing a healing message, condemning nothing but evil, exalting nothing but good, nor is it a dogma of any denomination. "It is the Word of Truth, in which science and religion are seen as one and in this one is found true medicine, even the healing power of God. It matters not where one may be on life's road, Christian Science brings to the listening ear a message of helpfulness and love. It shows the sick the certain way to health, it adds moral courage to the one entangled in the meshes of sin and points the road to freedom, it opens the highway of peace and happiness to those weighed down by burdens, through a fuller understanding of the goodness and love of God. To all who seek for better things it is the dawn of a new light that supplants mystery with reason, ignorance with intelligence, doubt with confidence, and unkindness with love.

"Christian Scientists believe that through the enlightened thought of Christian peoples the world will be led ever forward. They rejoice in good wherever manifested and join with their whole hearts in the common prayer of Christendom to our common Father God, 'Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.' In her message to the Mother Church in 1892, Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, expressed that loving regard for the church of her youth which is so frequently found in her writings. The teachings of Christian Science rest on reason and are supported by proof. They are inseparable from the Bible, founded upon the eternal truth of being which that book of the ages contains; but Christian Scientists do not accept the Bible blindly, nor in the narrowness of its letter. Their acceptance is based on the fact that within its pages is to be found the highest inspiration that came to men concerning God's laws of life and health during a period of 4000 years. If you have doubted the authenticity of the Bible you may prove for yourself, through the teachings of Christian Science, that the teachings of Christ Jesus were absolutely accurate and scientific statements of the laws of life and health, and that there was nothing in them that was supernatural. How ignorant most of us have been of this great storehouse of spiritual, health-giving Truth so near at hand!"

The speaker then described Mrs. Eddy's early life, her sense of the limitations of creed and dogma, and later her conviction that Christ healed by observance of some natural law which could be applied at any period of the world's history as well as then. For 20 years she searched to find that law, until it became clear to her mind and healed her of a serious injury. Nine years later her book, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," was published and became the text book of the Christian Science faith. Her next years were devoted to establishing this new faith by orderly methods, with a unique and adequate system of church government. From this persistent, individual start, inspired and sustained by trust in God, grew the wonderful co-operative activities of a religion which now numbers millions of people among its adherents. "It is evident," continued the lecturer, "that all good ideas, pertaining to the welfare and benefit of mankind, which are not affected by time or space, must spring from a common source with which everyone has a fundamental mental relationship. Christian Science explains that this fountain source is Mind, intelligence, always here and everywhere, but never in matter. This always present Mind is God. Man is the agency through which this Mind expresses itself. The only reason for man to exist is to express God, or good. We cannot see God with the physical senses, but we can know Him, even as we know good. He is one with His creation, as the sun and its rays are one. God is Life, Truth and Love, and all these names are synonymous with Mind. The ungodly conditions of our lives are accounted for by evil thoughts. Christian Science answers the question of how to keep the consciousness always filled with God's thoughts, by discovering and demonstrating the spiritual selfhood of man.

"First we must remember that every claim of evil must be reduced to a mental argument and get rid of it by letting in the light of the only Truth, the only Life, and realizing that evil is only a shadow thought, not a fact of existence, that there is no other mind but God. We destroy evil as we cease to believe in it, and think only of good and the presence and power of God. Evil like ignorance, is the absence of something and disappears when intelligence appears." Dr. Seeley in conclusion illustrated the application of Christian Science in specific cases, such as dishonesty, discouragement, discord, fear of illness. Humility is the first step, followed by gratitude, alertness and the love that destroys hate, unites men, and expresses God.

MRS. FISK WAS HOSTESS THURSDAY

Mrs. A. C. Fisk entertained a group of intimate friends of many years' standing on Thursday at her home, 203 North Castle avenue. The ladies, who have come to California to live from various parts of the United States, were Mrs. Lida Hood Talbot of Tujunga, Mrs. Ella Hoswell and Rev. Helen Van Anderson Gordon of Los Angeles, Mrs. Mary G. Burton of Pasadena, and Miss Ida C. Heffron of Eagle Rock. After the luncheon a few others were invited to join the group for an hour's conversation. Since all have thought and read much on metaphysical and spiritual lines, each had something to give from her experience or observation.
